

Contents

	Preface	ix
	A note on abbreviations	x
	Introduction	1
1	The government of education	5
2	The background to policy-making in education	23
3	Defining secondary education: the Labour government 1945-51	43
4	Bringing politics into education: the survival of the comprehensive school idea in the early 1950s	59
5	A time to experiment: the development of secondary education under the Conservatives	82
6	Bringing education into politics: Labour takes the initiative	104
7	Theory into practice: the Labour government 1964-70	129
8	The development of educational policy	150
	A note on sources	164
	Notes and references	166
	Index	182