

CONTENTS

Series editor's preface vii

Preface x

Introduction – ways in 1

Periodization 2

Starting with when and where 5

Mapping the characters 7

Boy actors, cross-dressing and sexuality 10

Queen Elizabeth I 21

Malvolio and puritanism 27

Opening strategies 36

1 Language in print: 'tis poetical 41

The first scene 42

Parts of speech 44

Verse and prose 50

The hunting conceit 53

Like a cloistress: Talking about Olivia 55

Carpe diem 59

Blazon 61

Writing matters 65

2 Language, character and plot 85

Speakers and their speeches: Pronouns and conditionals in 2.4 and 5.1 86

Language and plot 97

Writing matters 100

3 Language through time 107

Bears, baiting and other animal imagery 108

Cut 112

Suit 118

Metal/meddle/mettle 119

Nature's bias 122

Writing matters 126

4 From reading to writing 135

What can we make of what isn't said? What does silence tell us? 139

What are you? Proof and plot 142

What does it take to create an ending? 144

What does the plot do? 146

What makes for a good marriage in Illyria? Is marriage a happy ending? 147

'A candle and pen, ink, and paper': Getting down to the business of writing 152

Bibliography 161