

Table of contents

List of contributors	VII
Acknowledgements	XI
Foreword	XIII
Ronald W. Langacker
Chapter 1.
Introduction: Cognitive Grammar in literature	1
Chloe Harrison, Louise Nuttall, Peter Stockwell &amp; Wenjuan Yuan
PART I. Narrative fiction
Chapter 2.
War, worlds and Cognitive Grammar	19
Peter Stockwell
Chapter 3.
Construal and comics: the multimodal autobiography of Alison Bechdel's Fun Home	35
Michael Pleyer &amp; Christian W. Schneider
Chapter 4.
Attentional windowing in David Foster Wallace's 'The Soul Is Not a Smithy'	53
Chloe Harrison
Chapter 5.
Resonant Metaphor in Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go	69
Sam Browse
Chapter 6.
Constructing a text world for The Handmaid's Tale	83
Louise Nuttall
Chapter 7.
Point of view in translation: Lewis Carroll's Alice in grammatical wonderlands	101
Elżbieta Tabakowska

PART II. Studies of poetry

Chapter 8. Profiling the flight of 'The Windhover' Clara Neary	119
Chapter 9. Foregrounding the foregrounded: the literariness of Dylan Thomas's 'After the funeral' Anne Päivärinta	133
Chapter 10. Conceptual proximity and the experience of war in Siegfried Sassoon's 'A Working Party' Marcello Giovanelli	145
Chapter 11. Most and now: tense and aspect in Bálint Balassi's 'Áldott szép pünkösднек' Mike Pincombe	161
Chapter 12. Fictive motion in Wordsworthian nature Wenjuan Yuan	177
Chapter 13. The cognitive poetics of if Craig Hamilton	195
Chapter 14. Representing the represented: verbal variations on Vincent's Bedroom in Arles Alina Kwiatkowska	213
Afterword: from Cognitive Grammar to systems rhetoric Todd Oakley	231
References	237
Index	253