

Contents

Foreword by Vandana Shiva	vii
Introduction to the Italian edition: Will the commons save the world?	1
Introduction to the English edition: The enclosure of nature and the social movements	5
The escalation of nature's consumption	5
Neoliberal economics and the ecology of the commons	9
Social and ecological movements	15
Case-studies from the South	19
Mobilisation in Europe and the Americas	22
1. What are the commons?	29
A kaleidoscope of the commons	29
The commons in all their variety	37
Empedocles' four roots between local and global	41
Mother Nature and the ecosystem services	46
The tragedy of the commons	50
Ownership: Common/collective, public/state, private	50
The community, yesterday and today: A controversial concept	52
2. The decline of the commons	55
The industrial revolution between the first and second primitive accumulation	55
Scientific reductionism and the 'death of nature'	61
The invisible hand and homo œconomicus	64

3. The destruction of wealth through commodities	68
Premises and outcomes of the crisis: The winners and the losers	68
The new enclosures in the North and the South	71
Colonialism and neo-colonialism as enclosure policies	81
Colonialism in the clothing of 'development'	85
Consensus through lies and homologation	87
4. All power to the commons!	91
Financialisation: The cancer that is devouring the commons	91
The return to the commons: A proposal	94
The empowerment of the community	96
Real democracy, politics and political ecology	99
Afterword: The right to the future	103
The reinvention of the commons	103
Local communities beyond the market and the state	110
Politics: The Left and the Right today	113
Notes	117
Bibliography	127
Index	136