

Contents

Introduction: Dialogic Godotic Ranjan Ghosh	ix
1 The Politics of Identification in Waiting for Godot Graley Herren	1
2 “What have I said?”: Vladimir’s Tragic Recognition Mark S. Byron	23
3 Alone and Together: The Psychic Structure of the Couple in Waiting for Godot Mary F. Catanzaro	35
4 Beckett contra Aristotle: A Choral Reading of Waiting for Godot Thomas Cousineau	51
5 Waiting Upon Each Other: Work and Play in Waiting for Godot Ranjan Ghosh	65
6 Rien à faire : The Para-Messianics of Delay in Godot Stephen Barker	79
7 Waiting for Nothing: Commitment, Resistance, and Godot’s Underground Ancestry Paul Sheehan	99
8 Scrutinizing the Feminine in Waiting for Godot : Vladimir and Estragon Await Their Couple’s Counselor. Art Horowitz	113
9 Beckett’s Lucky Chance: Speculation in Waiting for Godot Eyal Amiran	131

10	Samuel Beckett's Playland: The Profane and Infantile Politics of Waiting for Godot Maria Margaroni	149
11	"Who is Godot?": Beckett and Allegory Shane Weller	175
12	Culture, Politics, and Human Rights in Waiting for Godot Wanda Balzano	191
	Index	213
	Contributors	217