

Contents

Acknowledgements	x
List of Abbreviations	xi
1 The Analytical and Conceptual Framework	1
International and European monetary power	4
The impact of attitudes	5
The underlying economic motives	12
Domestic political motives	19
2 The First Steps to European Monetary Co-operation, 1968 to 1981	21
French policy on monetary co-operation and integration in Europe prior to 1968	21
Establishing French policy on European monetary co-operation	25
European monetary initiatives and developments	26
Coping with the collapse of Bretton Woods	29
French efforts to prevent the creation of a mark zone	34
From reflation to 'stop and go' deflation	42
The constraint of neo-Gaullist nationalism	46
Domestic political motives	50
Conclusion	53
3 The Decision to Keep the Franc in the ERM, May 1981 to March 1983	55
Introduction	55
Monetary policy initiatives and developments	56
Mitterrand's March 1983 decision to keep the franc in the ERM	60
The political logic behind pre-1981 Socialist Party policy	62
The debate on enhancing French European power	66
Choosing ' rigueur ' over ' l'autre politique '	69
'Choosing Europe'	77
Domestic political motives	79
Conclusion	81

4	The French Challenge to German Monetary Dominance: Demands for EMS Reform, March 1983 to May 1988	83
	Introduction	83
	Monetary policy developments	84
	Challenging EMS asymmetry	86
	ECU against the mark	93
	Ongoing attempts to contain dollar instability	98
	'Competitive disinflation' as a conceptual framework	102
	Relaunching European integration	106
	Containing opposition to ' rigueur '	108
	Conclusion	110
5	Negotiating the EMU Project, May 1988 to December 1991: the Victory of European Power Motives over National Policymaking Tradition	113
	Introduction	113
	Monetary developments	114
	A summary of European level negotiations on EMU and related developments	115
	Ending Bundesbank dominance	118
	International power motives	126
	Attitudes and EMU	127
	Domestic political motives	138
	Conclusion	143
6	After Maastricht, December 1991 to January 1999: Keeping the EMU Project on Track and Challenging German Monetary Dominance	145
	Introduction	145
	Monetary developments	145
	European policy developments	148
	European power motives	150
	An 'Anglo-Saxon' conspiracy?	163
	The intensification of attitudes against the ERM constraint and the EMU project	165
	Domestic political motives	171
	Conclusion	174
	Conclusion	177
	Monetary power motives	177
	The importance of attitudes	180

The central role of the technocratic elite	183
Economic ideas as justification of policy	184
Domestic political motives	185
Notes	189
Bibliography	208
Name Index	227
Subject Index	230