

Contents

Rise, Fall, and Permanence. Issues in the Environmental History of the Global Plantation Frank Uekötter .....	7
Plantations, Agroecology, Environmental Thought, and the American South Mart A. Stewart .....	27
Cotton's Metropolis: Memphis and Plantation Development in the Trans-Mississippi West, 1840–1920 Jeannie M. Whyne .....	49
Ephemeral Plantations: The Rise and Fall of Liberian Coffee, 1870–1900 Stuart McCook .....	85
Between “Wild Tropics” and “Civilization”: Guatemalan Coffee Plantations as Seen by German Immigrants Christiane Berth .....	113
Divide and Cultivate: Plantations, Militarism and Environment in Portuguese Timor, 1860–1975 Chris Shepherd and Andrew McWilliam .....	139
Pines, Pests and Fires: Large Scale Plantation Forestry in New Zealand, 1897–1955 Michael Roche .....	167

How Nature Works: Business, Ecology, and Rubber Plantations in Colonial Southeast Asia, 1919–1939 Michitake Aso .....	195
Apple Orchards in Southern Brazil: An Environmental History Jó Klanovicz .....	221
Plantations and the Rise of a Society in São Tomé and Príncipe Marina Padrão Temudo .....	239
Notes on Authors .....	261
Index .....	263