

C O N T E N T S

Acknowledgments ix

Introduction xiii

PART ONE: Archaeology: Colonialist Historiography, Writing the Nation into History

1. Sexing the Colonial Imaginary:
(En)gendering Chicano History, Theory, and Consciousness 3

PART TWO: From Archaeology to Genealogy: Discursive Events and Their Case Studies

2. Feminism-in-Nationalism:
Third Space Feminism in Yucatán's Socialist Revolution 31
3. The Poetics of an (Inter)Nationalist Revolution:
El Partido Liberal Mexicano, Third Space Feminism
in the United States 55
4. Tejanas: Diasporic Subjectivities and Post-Revolution Identities 75

PART THREE: Genealogy: History's Imprints upon the Colonial Body

5. Beyond the Nation's Maternal Bodies:
Technologies of Decolonial Desire 101
- Conclusion: Third Space Feminist (Re)Vision 126

Notes 129

Bibliography 161

Index 179