

■ TABLE OF CONTENTS

LIST OF FIGURES	xv
LIST OF PLATES	xvii
LIST OF TABLES	xix
LIST OF BOXES	xxii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS/ACRONYMS	xxiii
LIST OF CONTRIBUTORS BY CHAPTER	xxix
1 Introduction	1
Peter Hazell and Atiqur Rahman
1. What role for small farms?	1
2. Structure of the book	6
PART I THE STATE OF SMALLHOLDER AGRICULTURE IN THE DEVELOPING WORLD
2 On being a smallholder	15
Gordon Conway
3 Right place, right time: the state of smallholders in agriculture in sub-Saharan Africa	36
Geoffrey Livingston, Steven Schonberger, and Sara Delaney
1. Introduction	36
2. Smallholder farming—sub-Saharan Africa in perspective	37
3. Opportunities for sub-Saharan Africa’s smallholders	43
4. Right place, right time—doing a better job of lowering business risk	52
5. Conclusions and recommendations	61
4 Smallholder farming in Asia and the Pacific: challenges and opportunities	69
Ganesh Thapa and Raghav Gaiha
1. Introduction	69
2. Transformation of agriculture	73
3. Challenges faced by small farms	78
4. Opportunities for higher productivity, higher incomes, and sustainability	94
5. Enabling policy and programme support to small farms—an example from Asia and the Pacific	101
6. Concluding remarks	103
Annex A	104
Annex B	106

5 The state of smallholders in agriculture in Latin America	115
Julio A. Berdegué and Ricardo Fuentealba
1. Introduction	115
2. Concepts	117
3. The smallholder sector in LAC	120
4. The proximate context of smallholders	138
5. The challenges	147
 PART II THE BUSINESS AGENDA FOR SMALLHOLDERS
6 Targeting investments to link farmers to markets: a framework for capturing the heterogeneity of smallholder farmers	155
Maximo Torero
1. Introduction	155
2. Capturing the heterogeneity of smallholders through a typology of micro-regions	157
3. Implementing the proposed typology	159
4. Implementing the typology in three developing countries: Guatemala, Armenia, and Mozambique	166
5. Conclusions and policy issues	171
Annex A	174
Annex B	175
Annex C	177
7 Promoting small farmer market access in Asia: issues, experiences, and mechanisms	184
Sukhpal Singh
1. Introduction	184
2. Constraints and challenges	186
3. Market access experience in Asia	190
4. Conclusions and ways forward for effective market access	207
8 Financing smallholder farmers in developing countries	214
Atiqur Rahman and Jennifer Smolak
1. Introduction	214
2. The context of finance for smallholder farmers	215
3. Overcoming development challenges: innovative approaches to financing small farmers	224
4. Public sector financing of small farmers	236
5. Conclusion	242
9 Improving farmers' access to agricultural inputs and finance: approaches and lessons from sub-Saharan Africa	250
Akinwumi A. Adesina, Augustine Langyintuo, Nixon Bugo, Kehinde Makinde, George Bigirwa, and John Wakiumu
1. Introduction	250
2. Improved seed supply and demand challenges	252

3. Demand and supply for fertilizers among farmers	257
4. Improving affordability of farm inputs	261
5. Farm credit constraints	270
6. Conclusions	281
10 Corporate agribusiness development and small farms	288
Martin Evans
1. Introduction	288
2. Corporate investment in agricultural value chains	291
3. Corporate engagement with small farms	298
4. Including greater, and more beneficial, corporate involvement with small farms	307
5. Policy implications	313
11 A twenty-first-century balancing act: smallholder farm technology and cost-effective research	324
John Lynam and Stephen Twomlow
1. Introduction	324
2. Technology design	327
3. The centrality of adaptive research	333
4. Scale economies in increasing productivity in smallholder, rain-fed agriculture	338
5. Designing R&D institutions to foment growth in smallholder productivity	344
6. Conclusions	351
12 Farmers as entrepreneurs: sources of agricultural innovation in Africa	355
Calestous Juma and David J. Spielman
1. Introduction	355
2. Farmers as entrepreneurs: origins of agricultural innovation	357
3. Support systems and sources of agricultural innovation	360
4. Implications for public policy and institutions	367
5. Conclusions	370
PART III ENHANCED LIVELIHOOD OPPORTUNITIES FOR SMALLHOLDERS
13 The changing rural world and livelihood options for resource-poor rural people	377
Edward Heinemann
1. Rural areas are changing	377
2. What do these changes mean for the poor rural people?	386
3. Livelihood strategies of the rural poor	389
4. Supporting the livelihood options of resource-poor rural people	393

14 Securing land rights for smallholder farmers	401
Klaus Deininger
1. Background and motivation	401
2. Conceptual issues	403
3. Embedding smallholders' rights in a system of good land governance	410
4. Promising approaches to enhancing smallholders' rights	416
5. Conclusions and next steps	427
15 Empowering women to become farmer entrepreneurs: case study of an NGO-supported programme in Bangladesh	434
Mahabub Hossain and W. M. H. Jaim
1. Introduction	434
2. Women's participation in agriculture: prevailing knowledge	435
3. Findings of longitudinal surveys	438
4. Case study of a targeted project	443
5. Concluding remarks	453
16 Securing a future for smallholder farmers in an era of climate change	457
Camilla Toulmin
1. Introduction	457
2. Main climate threats by region and type of farm	458
3. Adapting to climate change	462
4. New opportunities from climate-change policy and markets	468
5. What mix of measures will help smallholders adapt and prosper?	471
6. Conclusions	478
17 Rural non-farm economy: current understandings, policy options, and future possibilities	482
Steve Wiggins
1. Introduction	482
2. How important is the rural non-farm economy?	483
3. How does the rural non-farm economy develop?	493
4. What policies may stimulate the rural non-farm economy?	500
5. What is the future of the rural non-farm economy in developing countries?	508
6. Conclusions: small farmers and the rural non-farm economy	515
 PART IV THE POLICY AGENDA
18 Concluding chapter: the policy agenda	527
Peter Hazell and Atiqur Rahman
Index	559