

Table of Contents

List of Abbreviations — VII

Daniel Steuer, Sascha Bru, Wolfgang Huemer

Introduction — 1

Steven G. Affeldt

Being Lost and Finding Home: Philosophy, Confession, Recollection, and Conversion in Augustine's Confessions and Wittgenstein's Philosophical Investigations — 5

Wolfgang Huemer

The Character of a Name: Wittgenstein's Remarks on Shakespeare — 23

William Day

To Not Understand, but Not Misunderstand: Wittgenstein on Shakespeare — 39

Julian Lamb

Sense and Sententiousness: Wittgenstein, Milton, Shakespeare — 55

K. L. Evans

Why the Tractatus, like the Old Testament, is "Nothing but a Book" — 75

Elisabeth Van Dam

Wittgenstein Lights Lichtenberg's Candle: Flashlights of Enlightenment in Wittgenstein's Thought — 103

Daniel Steuer

Wittgenstein and Goethe: Getting Rid of "Sorge" — 115

Andrew Barker

Ludwig Wittgenstein and the Conservative Legacy of Johann Nepomuk Nestroy — 137

Steven Burns

Best Readings: Wittgenstein and Grillparzer — 153

Béla Szabados

Wittgenstein's Reception of Wagner: Language, Music, and Culture — 171

Josef G. F. Rothhaupt

Ludwig Wittgenstein and Wilhelm Busch: "Humour is not a mood, but a 'Weltanschauung'" — 197

Brian McGuinness

Wittgenstein and Dostoevsky — 227

Garry L. Hagberg

Wittgenstein Re-Reading — 243

Ilse Somavilla

The Significance of Dostoevsky (and Ludwig Anzengruber) for Wittgenstein — 263

Paul Davies

A Remarkable Fact: Wittgenstein Reading Tolstoy — 289

David LaRocca

Note to Self: Learn to Write Autobiographical Remarks from Wittgenstein — 319

Wolfgang Kienzler

Wittgenstein Reads Kürnberger — 335

Charles Altieri, Sascha Bru

Trakl's Tone: Mood and the Distinctive Speech Act of the Demonstrative — 355

António Sousa Ribeiro

The Chimera of Language? Karl Kraus and Ludwig Wittgenstein — 373

Helen Thaventhiran

Well-Versed: Wittgenstein and Leavis Read Empson — 389

The contributors of the volume — 403

Index of Names — 409