

~: CONTENTS ~:

Introduction. Transgressive Unions	1
David M. Luebke
Chapter 1. "It Is Not Forbidden that a Man May Have More Than One Wife": Luther's Pastoral Advice on Bigamy and Marriage	14
David M. Whitford
Chapter 2. Celibacy—Marriage—Unmarriage: The Controversy over Celibacy and Clerical Marriage in the Early Reformation	31
Wolfgang Breul
Chapter 3. "Nothing More than Common Whores and Knaves": Married Nuns and Monks in the Early German Reformation	45
Marjorie Elizabeth Plummer
Chapter 4. Transgressive Unions and Concepts of Honor in Early Modern Defamation Lawsuits	63
Ralf-Peter Fuchs
Chapter 5. Negotiating Rank in Early Modern Marital Mismatches	80
Michael Sikora
Chapter 6. Between Conscience and Coercion: Mixed Marriages, Church, Secular Authority, and Family	101
Dagmar Freist
Chapter 7. The Rhetoric of Difference: The Marriage Negotiations between Queen Christina of Sweden and Elector Friedrich Wilhelm of Brandenburg	119
Daniel Riches
Chapter 8. Mixed Matches and Inter-Confessional Dialogue: The Hanoverian Succession and the Protestant Dynasties of Europe in the Early Eighteenth Century	134
Alexander Schunka

Chapter 9. Transethnic Unions in Early Modern German Travel Literature Antje Flüchter	150
Chapter 10. The Meaning of Love: Emotion and Kinship in Sixteenth-Century Incest Discourses Claudia Jarzebowski	166
Chapter 11. Aufklärung, Literature, and Fatherly Love: An Eighteenth-Century Case of Incest Mary Lindemann	184
Afterword. Shifting Boundaries and Boundary Shifters: Transgressive Unions and the History of Marriage in Early Modern Germany Joel F. Harrington	204
Bibliography	213
Notes on Contributors	239
Index	243