

DETAILED CONTENTS

List of Boxes, Figures, and Tables	xii
Preface to the Third Edition	xv
Acknowledgments	xvii
About the Author	xviii
Introduction	1
1. Introduction to Interview Research	3
Conversation as Research	3
Three Interview Sequences	5
Interview Research in History and in the Social Sciences	10
The Interview Society	15
Methodological and Ethical Issues in Research Interviewing	18
Overview of the Book	20
Interviewing as a Craft	20
Interviewing as a Social Production of Knowledge	21
Interviewing as a Social Practice	22
Part I: Conceptualizing the Research Interview	22
Part II: Seven Stages of Research Interviewing	23
Concluding Perspectives	24
PART I: Conceptualizing the Research Interview	25
2. Characterizing Qualitative Research Interviews	27
A Qualitative Research Interview on Learning	27
Phenomenology and the Mode of Understanding in a Qualitative Research Interview	30
Power Asymmetry in Qualitative Research Interviews	37

Philosophical Dialogues, Therapeutic Conversations, and Research Interviews	39
Therapeutic Interviews and Research Interviews	44
Qualitative Interviews as Research Instruments and Social Practices	51
3. Epistemological Issues of Interviewing	55
The Interviewer as a Miner or as a Traveler	57
Interviews in a Postmodern Age	59
Seven Features of Interview Knowledge	63
Knowledge and Interviews in a Positivist Conception	65
A Rehabilitation of Classical Positivism?	66
Methodological Positivism	67
Qualitative Interviewing Between Method and Craft	69
Research Interviewing: Method or Personal Skills	70
The Craft of Research Interviewing	72
Learning the Craft of Research Interviewing	75
4. Ethical Issues of Interviewing	83
Interviewing as a Moral Inquiry	83
Ethical Issues Throughout an Interview Inquiry	85
Ethical Positions: Rules and Procedures or Personal Virtues?	89
Ethical Guidelines	91
Informed Consent	93
Confidentiality	94
Consequences	95
The Role of the Researcher	96
Learning Ethical Research Behavior	100
5. The Qualitative Research Interview as Context	103
Interviewers and Interviewees	106
The Interviewer	108
The Interviewee	112
Bodies and Nonhumans	115
Nonhumans and Surroundings	119
PART II: Seven Stages of an Interview Investigation	123
6. Thematizing and Designing an Interview Study	125
Seven Stages of an Interview Inquiry	125
Thematizing an Interview Study	131

Designing an Interview Study	136
Mixed Methods	143
7. Conducting an Interview	149
A Class Interview About Grades	150
Setting the Interview Stage	154
Scripting the Interview	156
Interviewer Questions	160
The Art of Second Questions	164
8. Interview Variations	167
Interview Subjects	167
Interviewing Subjects Across Cultures	168
Interviews With Children	169
Interviews With Elites	171
Interview Forms	172
Computer-Assisted Interviews	174
Focus Group Interviews	175
Factual Interviews	176
Conceptual Interviews	176
Narrative Interviews	178
Discursive Interviews	181
Confrontational Interviews	184
9. Interview Quality	189
Hamlet's Interview	189
Interview Quality	192
The Interview Subject	193
Interviewer Qualifications	193
Standard Objections to the Quality of Interview Research	196
Leading Questions	199
10. Transcribing Interviews	203
Oral and Written Language	203
Recording Interviews	204
Transcribing Interviews	206
Transcription Reliability, Validity, and Ethics	210
11. Preparing for Interview Analysis	215
The 1,000-Page Question	215
A Method of Analyzing the Question?	219
Steps and Modes of Interview Analysis	220

	Computer Tools for Interview Analysis	225
	Coding	226
12.	Interview Analyses Focusing on Meaning	231
	Meaning Condensation	231
	Meaning Interpretation	235
	The Issue of Multiple Interpretations	236
	Hermeneutical Interpretation of Meaning	238
	The Primacy of the Question in Interpretation	239
	Analytic Questions Posed to an Interview Text	241
	The Quest for the “Real Meaning”	245
13.	Interview Analyses Focusing on Language	249
	Linguistic Analysis	249
	Conversation Analysis	250
	Narrative Analysis	253
	Discourse Analysis	258
	Deconstruction	262
14.	Eclectic and Theoretical Analyses of Interviews	267
	Interview Analysis as Bricolage	267
	Interview Analysis as Theoretical Reading	269
15.	The Social Construction of Validity	277
	Objectivity of Interview Knowledge	278
	Reliability and Validity of Interview Knowledge	281
	Validity as Quality of Craftsmanship	283
	Communicative Validity	288
	Pragmatic Validity	291
	Generalizing From Interview Studies	295
16.	Reporting Interview Knowledge	301
	Contrasting Audiences for Interview Reports	301
	Boring Interview Reports	303
	Ethics of Reporting	306
	Investigating With the Final Report in Mind	308
	Standard Reports and Ways of Enhancing Them	310
	Method	312
	Results	313
	Enriching Interview Reports	317
	Journalistic Interviews	318
	Dialogues	320

Therapeutic Case Histories	321
Narratives	322
Metaphors	322
Visualizing	323
Collage	325
Publishing Qualitative Research	327
17. Conversations About Interviews	329
Critiques of the Quality of Interview Knowledge	329
Developing the Craft of Research Interviewing	339
An Epistemology of Interview Knowledge	341
The Object Determines the Method	346
The Social Science Dogma of Quantification	347
Research Interviewing as Social Practice	350
Research Interviewing in a Social Context	351
Interview Ethics in a Social Context	352
Appendix: Learning Tasks	357
Glossary	363
References	369
Index	385