

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments ix

Introduction xi

Part I	Industry Structural Analysis	1
	Case 1 Note on the Electronic Component Distribution Industry	3
	Case 2 Raytheon Company—Diversification	19
	Case 3 Cramer Electronics, Inc.	31
	Case 4 The Oil Tanker Shipping Industry	49
Part II	Competitor Analysis	73
	Case 5 Polaroid-Kodak	75
	Case 6 Polaroid-Kodak Addendum	98
	Case 7 General Electric Versus Westinghouse in Large Turbine Generators	102
Part III	Strategic Groups	119
	Case 8 The U.S. Bicycle Industry in 1974	121
Part IV	Entry and Entry Deterrence	141
	Case 9 The Disposable Diaper Industry in 1974	143
	Case 10 SWECO, Inc.	168

Part V	Industry Structural Evolution	187
Case 11	The Chain Saw Industry in 1974	189
Case 12	The U.S. Securities Industry in 1979	208
Case 13	Hospital Affiliates International, Inc., and the Hospital Management Industry	247
Part VI	Strategy Toward Buyers and Suppliers	275
Case 14	Note on Supplying the Automobile Industry	277
Part VII	Competitive Strategy in Emerging Industries	295
Case 15	Bendix Corporation: Electronic Fuel Injection	297
Case 16	The Fiber-Optics Industry in 1978: Products, Technology, and Markets	321
Case 17	The Fiber-Optics Industry in 1978: Competition	351
Case 18	The Fiber-Optics Industry in 1978: Corning Glass Works	368
Case 19	Sierra Log Homes, Inc.,	373
Part VIII	Declining Industries and Divestment	395
Case 20	The Receiving Tube Industry in 1966	397
Case 21	The Baby Foods Industry in 1965	408
Case 22	EG&G, Inc. (A)	419
Case 23	EG&G, Inc. (B)	433
Part IX	Global Industries	447
Case 24	The U.S. Television Set Market, Prewar to 1970	449
Case 25	The U.S. Television Set Market, 1970-1979	482
Case 26	The Television Set Industry in 1979: Japan, Europe, and Newly Industrializing Countries	512
	Index of Cases	541