

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
List of tables	xii
Abbreviations	xiv
1 Introduction	1
The historical process of urban development	2
Forces for urban revival: employment	6
People	7
Policy implications	9
Structure of the book	11
2 Background and the use of Functional Urban Regions	14
Functional Urban Regions	14
FURs and spatial disparities	16
FURs and residential segregation	17
Separating decentralization from decline	19
FURs as labour markets	21
Selection of FURs for analysis	24
Technical Appendix	26
3 Problems of urban decline and growth: a review	28
Systematic studies of European urban development	28
Further evidence on stages of urban growth	30
Population or employment change	31
The role of demographic factors	32
Decentralization and urban decline: what is urban decline?	33
Forms of urban decline	34

Urban decline and industrial decline: or deindustrialization as international industrial restructuring	36
The causes of urban decline	37
Spatial restructuring and industrial restructuring	39
The macroeconomic context of restructuring	40
Urban decline as a manifestation of underlying economic and social problems	40
Comparison with other diagnoses of the causes of urban decline	41
4 Urban areas in the EC: problems of decline and growth 1971–84	43
Measuring population change	43
Measuring 'urban decline' and 'urban growth' problems	48
The variables	53
The results	61
Changes through time	73
Technical Appendix	79
5 The analysis of case studies	87
The questionnaire survey	88
Population	90
Migration and natural change	93
Population age structure	95
Employment	97
More general patterns	106
Unemployment	107
Residential segregation	111
Housing and families	113
Quality of life and environmental indicators	117
6 Growth and decline: the range of European urban experience	120
Population change	124
Migration and natural change	124
Age structure	131
Employment	132
Other factors	139
7 Urban problems and patterns of change	143
The forces for change: decentralization	143
The forces for change: deindustrialization	145
The forces for change: agricultural restructuring	151

The forces for change: European integration and changing peripheralization	152
Urban problems	159
Problems of decline and growth	166
The relationship between urban and regional problems	168
Pointers to future patterns of urban development	170
8 A review of urban policy	174
Policy: background	174
Policy: the administrative structure	176
The effectiveness of policies	177
The role of national policies with 'anti-urban' bias	179
Direction of economic activity	180
National urban policy development	180
9 Policy implications	195
European urban policy background	201
Form and role of policy	202
The role of the Community	203
Forms of policy: urban decline	204
Forms of policy: urban growth	207
Specific problems and policies in relation to the ERDF	208
References	212
Data appendix	217
Case study tables for selected urban regions      Tables A1-A11	217
Summary data for major urban regions      Table A12	233
Index	259