

Contents

1.	Reason and Its Other: Some Major Themes D. Freundlieb and W. Hudson	1
2.	The Challenge of a Totalizing Critique of Reason and the Program of a Philosophical Theory of Rationality Types K.-O. Apel	23
3.	Observations on Rationality and Language H. Schnädelbach	49
4.	Two Centuries of Philosophical Critique of Reason and Its “Postmodern” Radicalization M. Frank	67
5.	Beyond the Radical Critique of Reason G. Böhme	87
6.	The Institution of a Common World and the Problem of Truth A. Wellmer	95
7.	Habermas’s The Philosophical Discourse of Modernity W. Hudson	107
8.	Reconceiving Truth and Reason R. Campbell	133
9.	Reason and Its Other in the Work of K.-O. Apel: The Case of Human Action D. Freundlieb	163
10.	Vernunftkritik as Critique of Scientific Reason A. T. Nuyen	181
11.	Reason, Identity and the Body: Reading Adorno with Irigaray M. Walker	199

12. Social Theory Without “Reason”: Luhmann and the Challenge of Systems Theory: An Interview N. Luhmann	217
13. Adorno as a Reader of Heine P. U. Hohendahl	229
14. Enlightenment, the Other(s) of Reason, and German Social Democracy (1890–1914) A. G. Bonnell	241
15. Irrationalism, Expressionism, and the Conflict of Generations R. Alter	255
16. References	281
17. Notes on Contributors	288
18. Sources	290
19. Index	291