

Contents

---

---

1	Language and Symbolization	1
	Purposes and Scope of the Book	1
	A Concern for the Symbolic Function	4
	The Multiplicity of Languages	7
	Constructive versus Descriptive Language	10
	Generating versus Using Language	12
2	The Concept of Linguistic Community	14
	Symbolic Paradigms and the Roots of Knowledge	14
	Fixity and Mobility of Symbolic Paradigms	17
	The Question of Anomalies: A Connection between Wittgenstein and Freud	21
	Cultural Transformations: A Kuhnian Approach	25
	The Growth of Expressive Modes	26
3	On Language and Reality	31
	The Gap between World and Language: A Philosophical Space	31
	‘Higher’ Functions of Language	33
	Metalinguistic Functions	35
	The Question of Limits	36
4	The Symbolic Function, Error and Awareness	39
	Critical Distances and the Development of Awareness	39
	The Development of the Idea of Truth	43
	The Utilization of Errors	47
5	On the Interaction of Language and Thought	53
	The ‘Normative’ Role of Language and Orthodoxy of Thought	53
	Normative Functions of Language and the ‘Risks’ of Dialogue	56

	Towards a Renewable Epistemology of Mental Illness	58
	On the Pathology of Ordinary Language	60
6	The Symbolic Function and the Development of Inner Time	63
	The Development of Inner Time	63
	Symbol and Interaction in Knowledge-Claims	69
	Symbol and Perspective in Knowledge-Claims	72
	Awareness of Death and Creative Thinking	75
7	Pseudosymbolic Language	80
	Pseudosymbols: Introductory Notes	80
	Philosophy of Dialogue and Pseudosymbolic Falsification	87
	Resymbolizing a Dialogic Condition	91
	The 'Energy Sources' of Pseudosymbols	94
	The 'Sophist' Within	97
	Pseudosymbols and the Philosophy of Education	103
	Pseudosymbolization versus Creative Thinking	106
8	A Philosophy of Listening	109
	Listening as Philosophical Midwifery	109
	The Interaction of Listening	114
9	Epistemophily and Knowledge	118
	Introductory Notes	118
	'Symbolic' Equations and Symbol Generation	122
	Our Metaphoric Potential	127
	Epistemophily and the Life of Thinking	132
10	Genesis of the Symbolic Function	135
	The Experience of Loss	135
	The Experience of Loss: Surpassing our Biological Level	143
	Symbol-Formation	145
11	From Biological Life to Dialogic Relations	154
	Preliminary Notes	154
	The Genesis of Symbols and Primal Dialogue	157
	On Interactive Interpretations	164
	The Interpretative Effort	170
	Reciprocity in Early Dialogue	174
	The Dynamics of Challenge	177

12	The Maturation of Knowledge	179
	Interactive Dialogue and Awareness	179
	The Development of Otherness	182
	From the Flow of 'Emotion' to the Exchange of Communications	187
	Mechanisms of Splitting and Deterioration of Cognitive Life	191
	Towards a Notion of Symbolic Integration	194
	Notes	196
	Bibliography	216
	Index	226