

Contents

Preface	VII
Abbreviations	IX
Introduction
Susan Foister, National Gallery, London: The History of Campin Scholarship	1
I. Examining Campin: Technical Studies
Jochen Sander, Städelches Kunstinstitut, Frankfurt am Main: The Flémalle Panels: the History of Research and the Visual Evidence	11
J.R.J. van Asperen de Boer, Groningen University: On the Painting Technique of the Master of Flémalle Panels at Frankfurt	21
Caroline Villers and Robert Bruce-Gardner, Courtauld Institute of Art: The Entombment Triptych in the Courtauld Institute Galleries	27
David Bomford, Lorne Campbell, Ashok Roy and Raymond White, Courtauld Institute of Art and National Gallery London: The Virgin and Child Before a Firescreen: History, Examination and Treatment	37
Carmen Garrido, Museo del Prado, Madrid: The Campin Group Paintings in the Prado Museum	55
Raymond White, National Gallery, London: Medium Analysis of Campin Group paintings in the National Gallery	71
Peter Klein, University of Hamburg: Dendrochronological Findings in Panels of the Campin Group	77
Hélène Verougstraete and Roger van Schoute, University of Louvain, Louvain-La-Neuve: Frames and Supports in Campin's Time	87
II. Copying Campin
Jeltje Dijkstra, University of Amsterdam: The Brussels and the Merode Annunciation Reconsidered	95
Susie Nash, Courtauld Institute of Art: A Fifteenth Century French Manuscript and an Unknown Painting by Robert Campin	105
Celia Fisher: Floral Motifs and the Problem of a Campin Workshop	117

Lorne Campbell, Courtauld Institute of Art: Campin's Portraits	123
Molly Faries, Indiana University: Robert Campin and Stefan Löchner: Any Connection?	135
Maryan W. Ainsworth, Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York: The Virgin and Child in an Apse: Reconsidering a Campin Workshop Design	147
 III. Campin's Imagery: Sources, Interpretation and Influence
Maurits Smeyers and Bert Cardon, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven: Campin and Illumination	159
Carol J. Purtle, University of Memphis: The Iconography of Campin's Madonnas in Interiors: A Search for Common Ground	171
Catherine Reynolds: Reality and Image: Interpreting Three Paintings of the Virgin and Child in an Interior Associated with Campin	183
Vera F. Vines, University of Melbourne: A Reassessment of Jacques Daret in the Context of Robert Campin's Workshop in Tournai	197
Index	207