

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
1 Introduction	1
2 Grace Lumpkin's To Make My Bread : Standing Together, Side by Side	23
3 Josephine Johnson's Now in November : Not Plough-Shares but People	59
4 Caretaking, Domesticity, and Gender in John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath : "His Home Is Not the Land"	87
5 Margaret Walker's Jubilee : "Forged in a Crucible of Suffering"	112
6 Octavia Butler's Kindred : "My Face Too Was Wet with Tears"	127
7 Toni Morrison's Beloved : "Feeling How It Must Have Felt to Her Mother"	147
8 Conclusion	186
Notes	203
Works Cited	213
Index	227