

---

Contents

INTRODUCTION .....	1
--------------------	---

CHAPTER 1

THE PURSUIT OF UNDERSTANDING: AN INTELLECTUAL HISTORY	9
--	---

HAROLD M. PROSHANSKY

Introduction .....	10
How It All Began: People, Places, and Events .....	11
Growing Disenchantment .....	16
The Making of an Environmental Psychologist .....	19
Concepts and Assumptions of an Environmental Psychologist .....	22
Today and Tomorrow .....	26
References .....	29

CHAPTER 2

A FISH WHO STUDIES WATER	31
--------------------------	----

ROBERT SOMMER

Introduction .....	32
Chapter Plan .....	33
Early Academic Influences .....	33
Orthogonal Lines .....	35
University of California–Davis .....	36
A Different Approach .....	37
Choice of Topic .....	37
Choice of Method .....	39
Writing Style .....	41
Dual Dissemination .....	41

Consultation .....	43
Problems and Frustrations .....	44
Expert Witness as Hired Gun .....	45
Future Directions .....	47
References .....	48

CHAPTER 3

SETTINGS OF A PROFESSIONAL LIFETIME 49

ROGER G. BARKER

Introduction .....	50
The 1928 Person .....	52
Stanford University, 1929–1935 .....	53
Terman's Seminar .....	54
Miles's Later Maturity Facility .....	55
Stone's Animal Laboratory .....	56
University of Iowa, 1935–1937 .....	60
Lewin's Offices .....	60
Nursery School Laboratory .....	61
Topology Meetings .....	62
Harvard University, 1937–1938 .....	63
Murray's Clinic .....	63
Child Psychology Class .....	64
Boring's Sack Lunch .....	64
University of Illinois, 1938–1942 .....	65
Study at Home .....	66
Extension Classes .....	67
Stanford University, 1942–1945 .....	68
Office of Disability Survey .....	69
Clark University, 1946–1947 .....	70
University of Kansas, 1947–1972 .....	71
Office of Department Chairman .....	72
Field Station in Oskaloosa .....	74
Other Places, Other People .....	75
Conclusion .....	76
References .....	77

CHAPTER 4

SCIENCE AND THE FAILURE OF ARCHITECTURE: AN INTELLECTUAL HISTORY 79

AMOS RAPOPORT

Why Intellectual Histories? .....	80
Personal Background .....	81

Contents	xv
Chance and Places .....	83
Chance—Times and Zeitgeist .....	87
My View of Architecture .....	95
My View of Environment–Behavior Studies (EBS) .....	98
Continuity in My Work .....	102
Recent Work .....	104
Conclusion .....	108
References .....	109

CHAPTER 5

FROM THE PRAGMATIC TO THE SPIRITUAL: AN INTELLECTUAL AUTOBIOGRAPHY	111
---	-----

CLARE COOPER MARCUS

Introduction .....	112
Immigration to the United States and Early Housing Research .....	112
Teaching: The Early Years .....	118
Consulting .....	119
Beneath the Surface: The Environment as Metaphor .....	122
Merging Academic and Personal Concerns .....	124
Teaching: New Directions .....	125
Introspection as Inspiration .....	128
The New Paradigm .....	130
Future Work .....	132
References .....	135

CHAPTER 6

ENVIRONMENTAL AND PERSONALITY PSYCHOLOGY: TWO COLLECTIVE NARRATIVES AND FOUR INDIVIDUAL STORY LINES	141
--	-----

KENNETH H. CRAIK

Introduction .....	142
Collective Narrative I: The Invasion of the Paradigms in the Development of Environmental Psychology .....	143
Individual Story Line: Observational Assessment of Environments .....	147
Individual Story Line: Assessing Environmental Dispositions .....	150
Collective Narrative II: Historical Fates of Personality Research Methods .....	152
Individual Story Line. Field Studies in Personality: The Act Frequency Approach .....	153
Individual Story Line: Naturalistic Observational Assessment and the Reputational Analysis of Personality .....	156

Conclusions .....	158
Influences upon Individual Story Lines .....	158
Individual Story Lines and Collective Narratives .....	159
Context in Environmental and Personality Psychology .....	160
References .....	161

CHAPTER 7

PATHS TOWARD ENVIRONMENTAL CONSCIOUSNESS 169

LEANNE G. RIVLIN

Some Cautions about Personal Accounts .....	169
My New York Identity .....	170
The Changing Paths .....	172
Beyond the Institutions .....	175
The Public Arena .....	177
Dealing with Homelessness .....	177
The New York Context .....	180
With a View toward the Future .....	181
References .....	183

CHAPTER 8

THINKING . . . AS MUCH FUN AS SEX, DRUGS, AND ROCK 'N ROLL 187

MICHAEL BRILL

Introduction .....	188
A Quirky Mind That Spatializes Almost Everything .....	189
Paying Attention to Patterns and People .....	190
Not Much and Not Very Higher Education .....	191
A Finishing School and Early Teaching .....	192
Emphasizing Esthetics in Design .....	193
Transition from a Paradigm of Esthetics to One of Users .....	194
Emphasizing Psychosocial Needs of Users in Design .....	198
Finding Some Useful Intellectual Tools .....	198
Design/Research as a Business .....	201
Transition from a Paradigm of Design/Research to One of Design as a Humanity .....	209
Emphasizing Design as a Branch of the Humanities: Present Work ...	212
Archetypes of Place and the Mythic Consciousness .....	213
Public Life and Public Place: Ontology and Transformation .....	217
A Summary of the History .....	219
About the Making of This Intellectual History .....	220
References .....	222

CHAPTER 9

TOWARD A TRANSACTIONAL PERSPECTIVE:
A PERSONAL JOURNEY 225

IRWIN ALTMAN

Introduction ..... 226
 A Conceptual Framework ..... 228
 Phase I: Psychological Processes as Complex and Holistic, with Dynamic Temporal Qualities (P,T,e) ..... 230
 Phase II: Physical Environment as an Aspect of Psychological Processes (P,E,t) ..... 234
 Phase III: The Unity of Places and Psychological Processes (E,P,t) .... 239
 Phase IV: Temporal Qualities of Environmental Places (T,E,p) and Temporal Qualities of Psychological Processes (T,P,e) ..... 242
 Phase V: The Transactional Unity of Psychological Processes, Physical Environments/Places, and Temporal Factors (P,E,T) ..... 246
     Philosophical Analyses of World Views ..... 247
     Research Methodology ..... 248
     Sociological Analyses ..... 250
     Empirical Research ..... 251
 Retrospective and Prospective ..... 252
 References ..... 253

CHAPTER 10

ONE PERSON-IN-HIS-ENVIRONMENTS 257

SEYMOUR WAPNER

Precursors ..... 258
 General Factors ..... 258
     The Sociocultural Context ..... 259
     The Clark University Context ..... 260
     Academic Background ..... 260
 The General Approach ..... 261
     Assumptions of the Perspective ..... 261
 Predispositions toward Assumptions: People and Places ..... 263
     Holism: Levels of Organization/Integration ..... 263
     Constructivism ..... 266
     Multiple Intentionality ..... 267
     Definition of Environment/of Person ..... 269
     Person-in-Environment as a Unit of Analysis ..... 270
     Cognition, Affection, Valuation ..... 271
     Developmental Analysis ..... 271
     Teleological Directedness ..... 273

Planning .....	273
Relations between Experience and Action .....	276
Research Program on Critical Person-in-Environment Transitions ....	277
Issues and Challenges for the Future .....	282
Apologia .....	283
References .....	283

CHAPTER 11

LANDSCAPE RESEARCH: PLANNED AND SERENDIPITOUS 291

ERVIN H. ZUBE

Introduction .....	292
A Few Caveats .....	292
The Paradigms .....	293
20–20 Hindsight .....	295
From Teacher–Practitioner to Teacher–Researcher .....	296
A Paradigm Shift .....	297
An Emphasis on Research .....	298
Cross-Cultural Studies .....	302
Experiencing a New Landscape .....	304
Riparian Landscapes .....	305
Perceiving Landscape Change .....	308
Looking Backward and Forward .....	309
References .....	311

CHAPTER 12

IN SEARCH OF OBJECTIVES 315

DAVID CANTER

Early Days .....	316
Office Size .....	316
Room Meaning .....	318
The Architectural Context .....	319
Psychology for Architects .....	321
The Japanese Experience .....	322
Ethnoscapes .....	322
Emerging Conceptualizations of Place .....	324
A Student Quest .....	325
The Theory of Place .....	326
The Journal of Environmental Psychology .....	328
Fire Research .....	329

Building Evaluations ..... 330

Facet Theory ..... 330

    Purposive Evaluation ..... 331

    Place Goals ..... 331

A Developing Theory of Environmental (Social) Psychology ..... 332

The Feasibility of Application ..... 334

    Embracing the "Media" ..... 335

    Beyond Applicability ..... 335

Broadening Horizons ..... 336

References ..... 337

CHAPTER 13

AN ENVIRONMENTAL PSYCHOLOGIST AGES 339

M. POWELL LAWTON

Introduction ..... 340

Basic versus Applied: Love of Humanity and Love of Knowledge ... 340

Gerontology: Applied and Empirical ..... 344

Midcareer Gerontology: Interaction ..... 347

Basic Research, Applied Research, and Dissemination ..... 349

Theory and Empirics ..... 353

Person, Environment, and Transaction ..... 356

Present and Future Research ..... 359

Conclusion ..... 360

References ..... 360

INDEX ..... 365