

Contents

Series Editors' Foreword ix

Acknowledgments xiii

A Note on Audio xvii

1. Musical Literature, Its Theory and Practice 1
 - Writing about Music 8
 - Listening to Books 17
 - Valuing Popular Culture 25
2. Songs Not in Thy Songs: Musical Forms and American Free Verse 34
 - Songs Awaked: Leaves of Grass 36
 - One Definite False Note: Eliot's Early Poetry and The Waste Land 57
 - Beneath the Jazz: Linking Transcendentalism and Modernism 72
3. The Literary Soundtrack: F. Scott Fitzgerald's Heard and Unheard Melodies 76
 - Riotous Mystery: This Side of Paradise 82
 - What You'd Call Cheapness: The Beautiful and Damned 95
 - Never Again: The Great Gatsby 106
4. Make Them Black and Bid Them Sing: Musical Poetry, Racial Transformation, and the Harlem Renaissance 111
 - O Cant: Cane 117
 - Overtones, Undertones: The Weary Blues and Fine Clothes to the Jew 135
 - Many-Colored Variations: The Legacy of the Harlem Renaissance 159

5. “Got Over”: The Chorus Girl Novel and the Musical Stage	163
The Belle of New York: Sister Carrie	167
A Birrd in a Geelded Cage: Manhattan Transfer	186
The Same Old Hokum: U.S.A. and Beyond	202
Coda. The Bridge: Motifs in Contemporary Musical Fiction	205
Appendix: Audio Guide	213
Notes	215
Works Cited	251
Index	285