

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
The Italianate Evolution of English Collecting Edward Chaney	i
The Collecting and Patronage of John, Lord Lumley (c.1535–1609) Kathryn Barron	125
Collecting and Religion in Late Sixteenth-Century England Richard L. Williams	159
The Early Cecils and Italianate Taste Susan Bracken	201
A Question of Judgement: Lucy Harington, Countess of Bedford, as Art Patron and Collector Karen Hearn	221
The Ambassador as Art Agent: Sir Dudley Carleton and Jacobean Collecting Robert Hill	240
Thomas Howard, the Collector Earl of Arundel and Leonardo's Drawings Jane Roberts	256
The Countess of Arundel and Tart Hall Elizabeth V. Chew	285
Italian Paintings in the Buckingham Collection Philip McEvansoneya	315
Richard Symonds and Thomas Isham as Collectors of Prints in Seventeenth-Century Italy Anne Brookes	337
The Aldrich Prints: A Late Seventeenth-Century Collection, its Sources and Arrangement Christopher Baker	396
The Duke of Marlborough as a Collector and Patron of Sculpture Charles Avery	427
Notes on Contributors	465
Index	467