

Contents

Preface	vii
1 What is Communication Studies and why choose to study it?	1
Process-centred
A challenge
Traversing boundaries
Practice and experience
2 The cornerstones of Communication Studies	11
Aims and Priorities
Application
Theory
Issues
3 The language of Communication Studies	25
Tuning in to discourse
Agenda-setting
The concept of mediation
The role of ideology
The search for meaning
Taking a case
4 Acquiring and using the skills of Communication Studies	40
Skills as means towards ends
Information seeking and recording
Analysing and evaluating Responding
Applying knowledge Creating

vi What is Communication Studies?

5 Communication Studies: the benefits	67
Escaping old constraints
A subject to enjoy
Relevance
Appendix A: For further reading	72
Appendix B: Higher education courses in Communication and Media Studies	77
Appendix C: The Associated Examining Board A Level in Communication Studies	81
Index	85