Faye Dunaway's sultry looks as the criminal-cum-celebrity Bonnie Parker in the 1967 movie Bonnie and Clyde launched a 60s fashion for berets and Depression-era bobs.

Above: Celia's Birtwell's romantic floral prints captured the 'back to nature' mood of the decade.
Below: The 1960s was London's decade and the face of the 'swinging' capital was the model and actress Jean Shrimpton.
