

Table of Contents

Preface by Peter Pitzele .....	7
Foreword: Development, content and usage of this book ...	9
1. Bibliolog – an introduction .....	13
1.1 Three examples of Bibliolog – an appetizer .....	13
1.2 The plot of Bibliolog .....	25
1.3 The conductor in a Bibliolog .....	28
1.4 Bibliolog and the contemporary religious situation .....	30
1.5 Roots and development of Bibliolog .....	33
1.6 Bibliolog and Bibliodrama .....	37
2. Practice of Bibliolog .....	43
2.1 Selecting a text .....	43
2.2 Preparing a Bibliolog .....	52
2.3 Roles in Bibliolog .....	58
2.4 Echoing .....	61
2.5 Interviewing .....	66
2.6 Prologue .....	69
2.7 Introduction .....	71
2.8 Epilogue .....	74
2.9 Continuing after a Bibliolog .....	76
2.10 Parameters and resources .....	77
2.11 Dealing with unexpected events and disturbances .....	80
3. Hermeneutical principles of Bibliolog .....	87
3.1 Access to biblical texts .....	87
3.2 The process of understanding .....	89
3.3 The ambiguity of biblical texts .....	91
3.4 The “black fire” as a limit to interpretation .....	92
3.5 The subjects of interpretation .....	95
3.6 Bibliolog and the deconstruction of gender roles .....	96
3.7 Questions addressed to the “classic sermon” .....	99

4.	Bibliolog in different fields .....	103
4.1	“I sing and pray against my fears” Bibliolog at Sunday service (Cornelia Blum) .....	103
4.2	“Sometimes I would like to leave, just like he did!” Bibliolog in church groups (Andrea Marquardt) .....	105
4.3	“It’s kind of great that he just comes here and says, ‘Come along ...’” Bibliolog in confirmation classes (Michael Ellendorff) .....	108
4.4	“Cool, now we’ll make the Bible become alive again” Bibliolog at Sunday school (Dorothea Kleele-Hartl) .....	110
4.5	“Is he crazy? – In the temple! What’s next?” Bibliolog in religious education (Ulrich Jung) .....	115
4.6	“I put on a nice dress, a white one ...” Bibliolog in a retirement home (Sabrina Heinsdorff) .....	120
4.7	“Suddenly it was so sacred in here ...!” Bibliolog in secular environments (Heike Helfrich-Brucksch) ...	125
4.8	“... these are stories for today!” Bibliolog in Jewish, secular and interreligious contexts (Iris Weiss) .....	131
4.9	“Because I want to show them that this is not the last word on our lives!” Discovering the Bible with colleagues from youth work (Rainer Brandt) .....	137
4.10	“To get out of the castle” Bibliolog and spiritual retreats (Andrea Schwarz) .....	141
4.11	“But I’m not a prophet” Bibliolog with prospective pastors (Martin Hoffmann) .....	144
4.12	“It’s good to know that Jesus cares about us” Bibliolog with curates in training (Friedrich Wagner) .....	147
4.13	“I’ve experienced and learned something” Bibliolog in adult education with nursery school teachers (Frank Muchlinsky) .....	151
	Epilogue by Peter and Susan Pitzele .....	157
	Further training and organization .....	159