 J. R. ROYCE
Introduction and Overview
The Present Situation in Multivariate Theoretical Psychology	1
An Overview of Conference Papers	8
References	12
 PART I METHODOLOGICAL, PRE-THEORETICAL AND META-THEORETICAL ISSUES
 K. PAWLIK
Right Answers to the Wrong Questions? A Re-examination of Factor Analytic Personality Research and its Contribution to Personality Theory
The factor analytic model	17
The current state of factor analytic personality research	19
Theoretical "power" and "relevance" of factor analytic personality research for personality theory	21
Semantic structure restrictions and other social-psychological limitations	24
Restrictions originating in the underlying mathematical model	27
Psychological restrictions to the model	33
Summary and conclusions	36
Comment on Pawlik's Paper
Wm. W. ROZEBOOM	37
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	41
References	42
 K. V. WILSON
Linear Regression Equations as Behavior Models
Classes of behavior models	45

The linear regression equation	46
Computer programs for pattern recognition	47
Models of decision making and judgement.....	51
The factor analytic model	53
Detection of interaction effects	58
Conclusion	62
Comments on Wilson's Paper
J. L. HORN	62
J. R. ROYCE	70
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	71
References	72
D. W. FISKE
How shall We Conceptualize the Personality We seek to Investigate?	75
The substance of personality	76
Unresolved issues	80
Alternative resolutions	84
Summary	89
Comments on Fiske's Paper
R. B. CATTELL	89
K. PAWLIK.....	94
J. R. ROYCE	95
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	96
References	100
S. B. SELLS
Prescriptions for a Multivariate Model in Personality and Psychological Theory: Ecological Considerations	103
Preliminary considerations and definitions	104
Persons	104
Events.....	107
Definition of personality	111
Influence of events and persons	111
Personality.....	114
Toward development of the model.....	118
Comments on Sells' Paper
D. W. FISKE	119
J. R. ROYCE	122
References	122
P. E. VERNON
Multivariate Approaches to the Study of Cognitive Styles
Introduction	125
General discussion and conclusion	139
Summary	141

Comments on Vernon's Paper
T. E. WECKOWICZ	142
W. CLAEYS	144
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	145
References	145
S. G. VANDENBERG
Comparative Studies of Multiple Factor Ability Measures	149
Differential prediction of success in various curricula or jobs.....	155
Stability or comparability of factor patterns over different age ranges	158
Cross cultural generality of ability patterns	167
Existence of similar ability factors in retarded subjects	170
Differential effects of disease, brain damage or gross sensory defects on ability factors	172
Different rates of development for different abilities	177
Separate hereditary bases of different abilities	180
Effect of experimental conditions on factor structure	181
Summary and conclusions	191
Acknowledgement.....	192
Comments on Vandenberg's Paper
J. A. GRAY	192
J. P. GUILFORD	196
K. PAWLIK.....	197
References	197
J. L. HORN
Theory of Functions Represented Among Auditory and Visual Test Performances
Introduction	203
A metatheory exemplifying a basic problem	206
Primary abilities revealed through auditory tests.....	209
Broad patterns of relationships among auditory and visual abilities	227
Summary and conclusions	231
Comments on Horn's Paper
S. G. VANDENBERG.....	232
J. P. GUILFORD	234
K. PAWLIK.....	236
References	236
J. P. GUILFORD
Theoretical Issues and Operational - Informational Psychology
Some major issues.....	241
The structure of intellect.....	243
Faculties and factors.....	243
The act-content issue	244

Elementarism.....	246
Associationism	249
Psychology, subjective or objective?	251
How O.I. psychology deals with the issues	253
Precursors in gestalt psychology	254
Needed extensions of O.I. psychology	257
Summary	259
Comments on Guilford's Paper
K. PAWLIK.....	259
J. R. ROYCE	260
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	261

PART II TOWARD A COMPREHENSIVE, MULTIVARIATE PSYCHOLOGICAL THEORY

S. MESSICK

Multivariate Models of Cognition and Personality: The Need for Both Process and Structure in Psychological Theory and Measurement	265
Guilford's structure of intellect model	267
Hierarchical models of intellect	269
Illustrative classifications of major factors in terms of the extended S.I. scheme	272
The need to consider sequences of operations	274
Complex cognitive processes as sequences of operations	276
Personality organization in cognition.....	287
Developmental changes in cognition	288
Conclusion	293
Comments on Messick's Paper
P. E. VERNON	293
J. P. GUILFORD	296
K. PAWLIK.....	297

J. R. ROYCE

The Conceptual Framework for a Multi-Factor Theory of Individuality
Introduction	305
The basic conceptual model	308
PART I: The structure of individuality	311
Cognitive structure	312
Affective structure.....	323
The structure of cognitive - affective linkages	330

PART II: Functional process of individual	340
The ontogeny of factors	341
Hereditary and environmental sources of variation	343
Neural mechanisms of individuality	366
Summary and conclusions	375
Appendix A. Brief definitions of cognitive factors.....	377
Appendix B. Brief definitions of affective factors	379
Appendix C. Definitions of styles	380
Comments on Royce's Paper
J. P. GUILFORD	382
G. F. KAWASH	387

J. A. GRAY

Causal Theories of Personality and How to Test Them

Explanations of personality	409
Crossing the gap between animal and man	411
The emotions in ordinary language	417
The emotions as deduced from the study of learning	418
The emotions as deduced from physiological psychology	422
The organization of emotion and the organization of personality ...	430
An experimental test of sensitivity to nonreward in children	437
Sex differences in the study of personality.....	442
The fight/flight system and personality	448
Summary	451
Comments on Gray's Paper
J. R. ROYCE	451
H. LANSDELL	455
Rejoinder to Discussants' Comments	456
Acknowledgements	457

R. B. CATTELL

Key Issues in Motivation Theory (with Special Reference to Structured Learning and the Dynamic Calculus)

The definition of motivation measurement	465
The riddle of the motivation components	468
The measurement of conflict and the prediction of decision	470
The extra-motivational determiners of conflict.....	472
The introduction to three classes of measureable predictors in learning theory	476

The comprehensive, tri-vector description of learning – including emotional learning	478
Principles in structured learning theory.....	484
The concept of mental energy and the relation of arousal to primary dynamic state measures	489
Summary of needed experimental clarifications in seven questions	491
Comments on Cattell's Paper
K. PAWLIK	493
B. FRUCHTER	495
