

Contents

Preface	viii
Acknowledgements	xi
1 Preliminary orientations	1
1.1 Teller, tale, addressee	1
1.2 Typical characteristics of narratives	4
1.3 Narratives and non-narratives	8
1.4 Story – text – narration	10
Further reading	12
Notes and exercises	13
2 Basic story structure	15
2.1 Story/fabula/histoire	15
2.2 Propp’s morphology of the Russian fairytale	17
2.3 Barthes on narrative	22
2.4 Plot-summarizing: modelling intuitions	29
2.5 In search of the grammaticization of plot structure	31
Further reading	37
Notes and exercises	37
3 The articulation of narrative text I: time, focalization, narration	41
3.1 Narrative text: a single level of analysis	41
3.2 Text and time	42
3.3 Temporal refractions in text: Nabokov’s Pnin	54
3.4 Focalization	59
3.5 Perceptual focalization as primary	63
3.6 Narrators and narration	64
3.7 Simpson’s typology of narratorial modes	68
Further reading	77
Notes and exercises	77

4	The articulation of narrative text II: character, setting, suspense, film	80
4.1	Character	80
4.2	Greimas' actant model	82
4.3	Character traits and attributes	86
4.4	Distinctive feature characterology	88
4.5	Setting	91
4.6	Character and setting in 'The Dead'	94
4.7	Creating surprise and suspense in narratives	99
4.8	From prose to film: radical translation	103
4.9	The grammaticization of character and situation	107
	Further reading	112
	Notes and exercises	112
5	The articulation of narrative text III: representing character discourse	116
5.1	Achieving immediacy in the narration of thoughts	116
5.2	Modes of speech and thought presentation	119
5.3	Differences between Direct and Indirect Discourse	125
5.4	Different again: free Indirect Discourse	130
5.5	Who speaks, who thinks?	133
5.6	FID: functions and effects	134
	Further reading	140
	Notes and exercises	140
6	Narrative as socially situated: the sociolinguistic approach	143
6.1	Labov and narrative structure	143
6.2	Fixed narrative clauses, free evaluative clauses	145
6.3	Abstracts and orientations	149
6.4	Evaluation	151
6.5	Doing and saying	153
6.6	Internal evaluation	155
6.7	Coda	157
6.8	Stories in societies	159
6.9	Narrative performance	160
6.10	Dispersed, embedded, and group oral narratives	162
6.11	From Labov to literature	167
	Further reading	172
	Notes and exercises	173

7	Children's narratives	178
7.1	Stories for, by, and with children	178
7.2	Storytelling and emergent literacy	180
7.3	Differing styles, differing orientations	182
7.4	Children's narrative development	185
7.5	Children's narratives and the development of registers and genres: the systemic-linguistic approach	189
7.6	The systemic-linguistic account of story genres	193
7.7	Stories for and with children	197
	Further reading	203
	Notes and exercises	204
8	Narrative as political action	206
8.1	The contexts of narratives	206
8.2	Hard news stories in the newspaper	206
8.3	Political narratives in the news	208
8.4	The unfolding news story: a contemporary example	212
8.5	The linguistic apparatus of political construal: notes on key resources	221
8.6	News stories online	230
8.7	Stories of class and gender	233
8.8	Prejudice in ethnic narratives	234
8.9	Stories in court	235
	Further reading	239
	Notes and exercises	239
	Bibliography	242
	Index	255