

Contents

	Preface	v
1	Charles Dickens, Linguist	1
2	A Glimpse of Eighteenth-Century Prescriptivism	37
3	Shakespeare and the English Language	46
4	The 'Language' of Language and Literature	65
5	The Study of the Mother-Tongue	77
6	Dasent, Morris, and Aspects of Translation	97
7	Bon-Mots from Places	110
8	A Commodity of Good Names	118
9	Thinking of Words	128
10	Third International	144
11	The Image of the Dictionary	148
12	Our Knowledge of English	164
	Index	177