

Contents

Preface	xi
ONE: The Scope of Grammar	1
About the Subject of Our Study	1
What Is Grammar?	1
What Is α Grammar?	2
English—Which One?	3
English Grammar in the Schools	4
English Grammar and the Non-native Speaker	5
English Grammar in Business	6
TWO: Variety, Variety	9
The Grammars We Hear	9
Standard English	9
Nonstandard English	10
The Study of Dialects	10
Who Studies Dialects? Methods What Makes a Dialect?
Regional Dialects Social Dialects
That Final Touch—Style	18
Variation according to Subject Matter Variation according to Medium Variation according to Attitude
Exercises	20
THREE: Some Bits and Pieces: Exploring the System	29
Ways of Signaling Meaning	29
Word Order Affixes Words

Grammatical Classes: In the Beginning Is the Word	32
Nouns Verbs Adjectives Adverbs Prepositions
Coordinating Conjunctions Other Parts of Speech, and a Word of Caution
From Word to Phrase	35
The Noun Phrase The Verb Phrase The Prepositional Phrase
From Phrase to Clause	37
Exercises	39
FOUR: Tense	47
Introduction	47
The Simple Present Tense	48
Description of Form Meaning
The Present Progressive	49
Description of Form Meaning
The Simple Past Tense	51
Description of Form Meaning
The Past Progressive	52
Description of Form Meaning
The Present Perfect: Two Meanings	53
Description of Form Meaning
The Present Perfect Progressive	54
Description of Form Meaning
The Past Perfect: Sequencing Is the Key	55
Description of Form Meaning
The Future: Will Is Only One Way	56
Description of Form Meaning
Other Tenses	57
Tense in the Everyday World	57
Exercises	60
FIVE: Be—The Busy One	65
Two Be 's	65
The Forms of Be	66
Person and Number with Be	66
Be in the Everyday World	67
Exercises	70
SIX: Passives	73
The Passive Defined	73
Subject Deletion: That Useful Option	75

Limitations on Active-Passive Conversions	75
The Get Passive	76
Look-Alikes	76
A Note on Terminology	77
Passives in the Everyday World	77
Exercises	79
SEVEN: The Third Person Singular -S	85
Introduction	85
Third Person Singular -S in the Everyday World	86
Exercises	88
EIGHT: The Modals	91
The Modals and Their Meanings	91
Ability Advisability and/or Obligation Necessity Possibility
Probability Requests for Permission Other Requests
Repetitive Past Actions Hypothetical Conditional Events
Other Hypotheticals Future Actions or States
Generalizations
Modals and Suffixes	95
Modals in the Everyday World	96
Exercises	98
NINE: Asking about Things: The Interrogative	103
Yes-No Questions	104
Wh- Questions	106
Tag Questions	107
Echo Questions	108
Embedded Wh- Questions	108
Questions in the Everyday World	109
Exercises	110
TEN: The Negative: Ways of Saying "No"	115
Forming the Negative with Auxiliary + Not	115
Forming the Negative with Adverbs of Negation	117
Negatives with No	118
The Negative Prefixes	118
Neither/Nor	119

Negatives in the Everyday World	119
Exercises	123
ELEVEN: Giving Orders	129
The Imperative Defined	129
Imperatives with an Implied Subject	129
Imperatives with a Stated Subject	130
Imperatives in the Everyday World	131
Exercises	133
TWELVE: Pronouns: There Is No Substitute for Them	137
The Advantages of Using Pronouns	137
Pronouns in Review	138
Personal Pronouns Reflexive Pronouns Reciprocal
Pronouns Relative Pronouns Interrogative
Pronouns Demonstrative Pronouns Universal
Pronouns Indefinite Pronouns Archaic Pronouns
Our Next-to-the-Last Word on Pronouns	144
Pronouns in the Everyday World	144
Exercises	150
THIRTEEN: The Determiner System	155
Introduction	155
Regular Determiners	156
The Articles: A, An, The Demonstrative Pronouns and Possessives
Predeterminers	159
Postdeterminers	159
The Importance of Count and Noncount Nouns	160
Determiners in the Everyday World	162
Exercises	166
FOURTEEN: Direct and Indirect Objects	171
Direct Objects	171
Transitive and Intransitive Verbs	172
Indirect Objects	173
Indirect-Object Inversion	174
Objects in the Everyday World	176
Exercises	177

FIFTEEN: Complements: Easier to Give than to Perceive	181
Complements Defined	181
Subject Complements	183
Object Complements	185
Our Next-to-the-Last Word on Complements	187
Complements in the Everyday World	187
Exercises	188
SIXTEEN: Gerunds and Infinitives	191
Gerunds and Infinitives Defined	191
Gerunds and Infinitives as Subjects	192
Gerunds and Infinitives as Direct Objects	192
Choosing the Correct Direct-Object Form	193
Gerunds and Infinitives as Complements	194
Gerunds and Infinitives Do Other Things Too	195
Gerunds and Infinitives in the Everyday World	195
Exercises	197
SEVENTEEN: Prepositions and Particles	201
Prepositions and Their Uses	201
Place Relationships
Direction Relationships
Time Relationships
Comparative Relationships
Accompaniment Relationships
Source Relationships
Instrumental Relationships
Purpose Relationships
Partition Relationships
Attachment Relationships
Particles	203
Prepositions and Particles in the Everyday World	205
Exercises	208
EIGHTEEN: Expletives: Much Ado about Nothing	213
Expletives Defined	213
There Insertion	214
Agreement and the Expletive There	216
Expletives in the Everyday World	217
Exercises	218
NINETEEN: Clauses: Variations on a Common Theme	221
What Is a Clause?	221
Independent and Dependent Clauses	221

Types of Dependent Clauses	222
The Adverbial Clause The Noun Clause
Noun Clause as Subject Noun Clause as Direct Object
Noun Clause as Subject Complement
The Relative Clause
Relative-Clause Construction Procedure Restrictive and
Nonrestrictive Relative Clauses Reducing Relative Clauses
Clauses in the Everyday World	233
Exercises	236
TWENTY: Putting It All Together	247
Complex Sentences	247
Compound Sentences	249
Branching Out	250
More Notes on Grammar in the Everyday World	251
Misplaced Modifiers Sentence Fragments Ambiguity
Exercises	254
TWENTY-ONE: Usage: Bringing Judgment to Bear	257
What Is Usage?	257
Usage Judgments	257
What Is Good Usage?	257
Who Decides?	260
Good Usage Changes with Time	261
Can We Agree?	261
Those That Matter, Those That Do Not	262
TWENTY-TWO: Where Do You Go from Here?	265
APPENDIX 1 Helpful Answers to Ten Commonly Asked Questions	268
APPENDIX 2 Diagramming Sentences	273
Traditional Sentence Diagramming	273
Tree-Structure Diagramming	276
Exercises	280
Answers to Exercises	286
Selective Annotated Bibliography	309
Index	315