

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS xi

MYTH

I. MYTHOLOGICAL LITERATURE – Topic, Theory, Method

1. The Topic 3
2. The Scholarship 8
3. This Book 15
4. A Cartography of Myth 23
5. The Map and the World 30

II. THE DISCOURSE OF MYTH – Antiquity, Middles Ages, Early Modern Period

1. The Beginning 34
2. The Phaedrus 45
3. Pagan Mythography after Plato 64
4. Christian Era 73
5. Early Modern Spain 86

DESIRE

I. OBSCURE CONFIGURATIONS OF DESIRE – The Baroque Mythological Sonnet

1. Baroque Lyric and Myth 103
2. The Spanish Love Sonnet 107
3. Three Examples 111
4. Antinomies of Baroque Desire 119

- II. EROS IN VARIOUS ATTIRE – Quevedo’s Hero and Leander Poems
1. Recurrence of a Myth 122
  2. Quevedo’s Transformation of the Sonnet Genre 124
  3. Myth of Love, Allegory of Lust 127
  4. Ambiguous Figures of Desire 130

FICTION

- I. MIRROR OF MYTH – The Baroque Epyllion
1. The Baroque Mythological ‘Fable’ 139
  2. A Controversial Genre 142
  3. The Opinion of the Theorists 145
  4. Fiction, Image, and Myth in the Baroque 152
- II. A MONSTRUOUS TALE – Mosaical Mythography in Góngora’s *Polifemo
1. Tradition and the Individual Work 156
  2. The Polifemo, Epitome of the Genre 158
  3. A Beautiful, Self-Reflective Beast 160
  4. Poetic Mosaic 162

TRAGEDY

- I. AMBIGUOUS ALLEGORIES – The Baroque Mythological *Comedia
1. The Double Bind 177
  2. The Serious Comedia 181
  3. Myth and Tragedy 186
  4. Ambiguity Brought into Play 189
  5. Culture of Crisis and Tragic Taboo 192
- II. THE TRAPPINGS OF WOE – Myth, Tragedy, and Allegory in Calderón’s *Eco y Narciso
1. Dramatic Amphibology 196
  2. Echoes and Reflections 198

3. Tragedy à la Calderoniana 201
4. Fatality and Jokes 205
5. Profane Truth and Transcendental Illusion 213
6. The 'Comic Tragedy' in Context 218

LITERATURE

- I. THE MODERN TURN – Beyond Desire, Fiction, and Tragedy
  1. Parodic, Heroicomic, Jocoserious, Burlesque Myth 223
  2. The Question of Modernity 239
  3. Birth of the Literary Institution 244
- II. THE PROMISED LAND OF LETTERS – A European Perspective
  1. An Aetiology of Diglossia: Venus and Adonis 254
  2. Excursus to Andalucia 272
  3. The Aporia of Myth: Amor and Psyche 276
  4. Another Precarious Issue 295

THE END

- Closing Remarks 307
Dansk resumé 315
Bibliography 319