Contents

Introduction 1
Dieter Kastovsky

Bibliography of Leon Kellner's writings 9

Should 11
John Anderson

On the typological status of Old English 31
Leiv Egil Breivik

What positions fit in? 51
Fran Colman

Language change typology and some aspects of the SVO development in English 103
Andrei Danchev

Pronoun and reference in Old English poetry 125
Hans-Jürgen Diller

The rise of the passive infinitive in English 141
Olga Fischer

Question-answer sequences in Old English 189
Udo Fries

Between hypotaxis and parataxis. Clauses of reason in Ancrene Wisse 203
Andreas H. Jucker

Prepositional phrases expressing adverbs of time from Late Old English to Early Middle English 221
Veronika Kniezsa

Can (could) vs. may (might): regional variation in Early Modern English? 233
Merja Kytö

Locative valency of the English verb: a historical approach 291
Anatolij M. Mukhin – Natalya M. Yulikova

Motivated archaism: the use of affirmative periphrastic do in Early Modern English liturgical prose 303
Terttu Nevalainen

Spoken language and the history of do-periphrasis 321
Matti Rissanen

The be/have variation with intransitives in its crucial phases 343
Mats Rydén

Semantic aspects of syntactic change 355
Dieter Stein

Subordination and word order change in the history of English 367
Robert P. Stockwell—Donka Minkova

Adverbial shifts: Evidence from Norwegian and English 409
Toril Swan

Lexical diffusion in syntactic change: frequency as a determinant of linguistic conservatism in the development of negation in English 439
Gunnel Tottie

On the stylistic basis of syntactic change 469
Susan M. Wright

Index of technical terms and topics 493

Index of names 501