

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
Chapter 1 Anglo-American Criticism	17
1 Moral Criticism (F. R. Leavis) John Bunyan	19
2 New Criticism John Keats	25
3 'Rhetoric of Fiction' Henry James	30
Chapter 2 Russian Formalism	35
4 'Baring the Device' Laurence Sterne	37
5 'Making Strange' (Defamiliarisation) Craig Raine, William Golding	41
Chapter 3 Structuralism	47
6 Naturalisation Christopher Smart	49
7 Binary Oppositions Arthur Miller	55

8	Narrative Theory John Updike	61
9	Metaphor and Metonymy Eugene O'Neill, Charles Dickens	67
Chapter 4 Poststructuralism		73
10	The Semiotics of the Sign and the Subject Nathaniel Hawthorne	75
11	Psychoanalytic Criticism William Shakespeare	81
12	Deconstruction William Wordsworth, Emily Dickinson	88
13	New Historicism William Shakespeare	94
Chapter 5 Reader-response Criticism		101
14	Phenomenology (Geneva School) and Deconstruction William Wordsworth	103
15	Norman Holland and Roland Barthes Wallace Stevens	109
16	Jonathan Culler and Roland Barthes Edgar Allan Poe	115
17	Wolfgang Iser Harold Pinter	121
18	Hans Robert Jauss Arnold Wesker, Samuel Beckett	126
Chapter 6 Marxist and Feminist Criticism		133
19	Marxist and Feminist Criticism (Class and Gender) John Milton	135
20	Feminist Criticism (Reading as a Woman) Kingsley Amis	141

21 Feminist Criticism (Writing as a Woman) Anne Bradstreet, Fleur Adcock	146
22 Marxist Criticism (Literature and Ideology) Daniel Defoe	153
23 Marxism and Modernism (Lukács and Brecht) James Joyce	158
24 Marxist Criticism (Class Struggle and Bakhtin) William Shakespeare	164
Exercises	170
References	201
Index	204