

Contents

Preface	vii
1 Epic	i
2 Romance	14
3 Chaucerian Epic and Romance	29
4 Chaucer, Langland and the Treachery of the Text	43
5 Two Versions of Pastoral: Arcady and Faeryland	58
6 The Arcady of the Poem	76
7 The Sonnet: History of a Form	93 ←
8 Spenser's Garden	111
9 Miracles, Moralities and Marlowe	126
10 Shakespeare: Tragedy, Comedy, Tragicomedy	145 ←
11 Shakespeare's After-Life	177
12 Prospero's After-Life	197
13 The Tragedy and Comedy of Revenge	208
14 Lyrical Nothings	226
15 Milton, 'Author and end of all things'	244
16 The Lost Paradise of the Lyric	264
17 Paradise Lost and its Predestining	279
18 Acting and Being: Comedy from Wycherley to Sheridan	298
19 Swift, Pope and the Goddess of Unreason	313
20 Inventing the Novel: Defoe	330
21 Richardson and Fielding: Tragic Pastoral and Comic Epic	343
22 Sterne: Tragedy, Comedy, Irony	359
23 Johnson's Lives and Boswell's Life	371
24 Gothic Follies	385
25 Wordsworth, Coleridge and the Failed God	398
26 Romantic Surfeit	418

CONTENTS

27	Romantic Deaths	430
28	Imagination and Fiction	448
29	Dickens and the Breeding of Monsters	466
30	The Critical Epic	484
31	The Novel's Natural History	497
32	'From Romance to Realism': Tennyson and Browning	516
33	Decadence and Nonsense	532
34	The Last Romantic?	546
35	Epic, Romance and the Novel	560
36	Renewing the Novel	578
37	The Waste Land and the Wastobe Land	600
38	Babel Rebuilt	622
39	The Stages of Drama	636
40	Symbols and Secrets	655
41	'Now and in England'	673
	Index	713