

Contents

Preface vii

PART ONE

Making a Beginning

1	Language, Thinking, Feeling, and Rhetoric	3
	Language and Thought	3
	Language and Feeling	4
	What Is Rhetoric?	4
2	The Problem of Making a Beginning	6
	Finding a True Subject: Focus	7
	Organization: Main Divisions	9
3	Organizing the Composition	21
	Unity	21
	Coherence	24
	Emphasis	31
	A Student Essay	32

PART TWO

The Forms of Discourse

4	The Main Intention	39
	Form and Function	39
	The Main Intention	39
	The Four Kinds of Discourse	40
5	The Methods of Exposition	44
	Interest	44
	The First Method: Comparison and Contrast	49
	The Second Method: Illustration	56
	The Third Method: Classification	61
	The Fourth Method: Definition	70
	The Fifth Method: Analysis	86
6	Persuasion	108
	Differences between Argument and Persuasion	109
	Identification	109
	Persuasion and the Emotions	113
	Reasoning for Truth and Reasoning for Assent	119
	Persuasion and Ethics	121
7	Argument	129
	Argument and Doubt	129
	Argument and the Common Ground	133
	What Argument Cannot Profitably Be About	135
	The Proposition	137
	Evidence	152
	Reasoning	157
8	Description	165
	Description: Scientist and Artist	167
	Suggestive Description and the Senses	168

Description and the Other Kinds of Discourse	171
The Dominant Impression	174
Texture and Pattern: Point of View	180
Selections	184

9 Narration 187

Intention	188
Action and Sequence	191
How Interest Determines Action	207
Point of View	208

PART THREE

Special Problems of Discourse

10 The Paragraph and the Sentence 217

The Structure of the Paragraph	218
Methods of Paragraph Organization	220
Emphasis in the Paragraph	222
Linking Paragraph to Paragraph	223
The Sentence	225

11 Diction 242

Jargon	244
Two Distinctions: General and Specific; Abstract and Concrete	247
Overused Words and Clichés	250
Language Growth by Extension of Meanings	252
The Associative Meanings of Words	254
Characteristic Changes and Development in a Language	257
Levels of Formality	260
Jargon: Some Antidotes	262

12 Metaphor 265

Slang and Metaphor	266
Jargon and Worn-Out Metaphor	267

	The Function of Metaphor	270
	What Makes a "Good" Metaphor?	276
13	Tone and Other Aspects of Style	283
	Tone as the Expression of Attitude	283
	Tone as a Qualification of Meaning	288
	Rhythm and Clarity of Meaning	296
	Style	298
PART FOUR
Research and Critical Papers
14	Preparation and Note-Taking	307
	Sources	308
	Developing a Bibliography	309
	Notes	313
	The Outline	316
	The Form of Footnotes and Bibliography	319
15	Writing a Research Paper	325
	From Research to First Draft	325
	Rewriting: The Final Version	331
16	Writing a Critical Paper	345
	Discussing a Short Story	345
	Discussing a Poem	357
Appendix A:
	The Book Report, Summary, and Précis	363
	The Book Report	363
	The Summary	365
	The Précis	365

Appendix B:

Deduction	367
Limits of Certitude: Premise	367
Deduction and Reasoning by Classes	368
Truth and Validity	371
Slips in Reasoning	375
Reasoning by Either-Or	378
Reasoning by If-Then	380
Deduction and Extended Argument	383
Index	387