Contents

Foreword v
Preface vii

1 Layout and rhetorical pattern 1
1.1 Versions of layout: (a) lines for copy 2
1.2 Versions of layout: (b) sections for documents 5
1.3 Versions of layout: (c) paragraphs for discourse 6
1.4 Varieties of rhetorical design: (a) the Step 9
1.5 Varieties of rhetorical design: (b) the Stack 12
1.6 Varieties of rhetorical design: (c) the Chain 14
1.7 Varieties of rhetorical design: (d) the Balance 15
1.8 The compounding of devices 16
1.9 Textual cohesion 18

2 The gaps between sentences 21
2.1 Expository structure: (a) enumerative terms 23
2.2 The function of enumeratives 25
2.3 Expository structure: (b) extensional terms 26
2.4 The extensional repertoire 28
2.5 The role of extensional terms in discourse 29
2.6 Expository structure: (c) endophoric terms 30
2.7 The endophoric repertoire 32
2.8 The role of endophoric terms in discourse 32
2.9 Expository structure: (d) interruptive terms 34
2.10 The repertoire of interruptive terms 35
2.11 Expository structure: (e) time definers 35
2.12 The repertoire of time definers 37
2.13 Expository structure: (f) place definers 38

2.14 The repertoire of place definers 39
2.15 General design and syntactic cohesion: an extended text 40

3 The lexicology of composition 45

3.1 Text and texture: (a) reiteration 46
3.2 Text and texture: (b) variation 48
3.3 Text and texture: (c) periphrasis 53
3.4 Text and texture: (d) multivalence 55
3.5 Text and texture: (e) the organizing metaphor 59
3.6 Text and texture: (f) the subliminal metaphor 61
3.7 The interrelationship of text and texture 62

4 Words in phrases 64

4.1 Phrase types 65
4.2 Complexity of phrasing 66
4.3 Modification and amplification 67
4.4 Phrases in action: a text 70
4.5 Phrase grammar and the rhetoric of phrasing 71
4.6 Coordination: (a) asyndetic and syndetic pairs 73
4.7 Syndetic patterns 74
4.8 Elaborating the pattern 76
4.9 Device and text 77
4.10 Sequences: asyndeton and polysyndeton 79
4.11 Tirades and triads 80
4.12 Prominence and rhythm 81
4.13 Figures: recursion and inversion 82
4.14 Antitheses and parallels 83
4.15 Phrasing: a rhetorical display 84
4.16 The heuristic value of phrase patterns 85
4.17 Phonetic aspects of phrasing 87

5 Sentences in texts 89

5.1 Sentence into text: a preliminary exploration 89
5.2 The long sentence 93
5.3 The short sentence 95
5.4 Variations of sentence-length: compositional tempo 97
5.5 Intensive complexity 99
5.6 Extensive complexity 102
5.7 Mobility and presentation 104
5.8 Sentence-process and text-process 106
5.9 Branching 111

5.10 Left-branching 112
5.11 Right-branching 114
5.12 Mid-branching: multiple (left- and right-) branching 116
5.13 The rhythmic pattern of the text 117

6 The writer to his reader 120

6.1 Roles 120
6.2 Role shifts 126
6.3 Tones 128
6.4 Tone shifts 132
6.5 Indices of tone 135
6.6 Pronouns, personality, and address 136
6.7 Imperatives, questions, exclamations 137
6.8 Passives: modals 140
6.9 Postponement: extraposition, existential sentences, cleft sentences 142
6.10 Frontings 146
6.11 Parentheses 147
6.12 Coordination and subordination 149
6.13 Cohesive devices 151
6.14 Vocabulary 152
6.15 Metaphor and image 155

7 Work in progress 159

7.1 Composition: inner and outer phases 160
7.2 Blocks 161
7.3 Self-monitoring: (a) continuous planning 166
7.4 Self-monitoring: (b) putting the text first 168
7.5 Self-monitoring: (c) the flow of the text 171
7.6 Critical routines 175

Exercises: Analyses and compositional routines 180

Bibliographical notes 218
Index 224