

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction: The Development of a Genre and Its Characteristics	1
Part I: The Representative Cycles	23
1. James Joyce's Dubliners	25
2. Sherwood Anderson's Winesburg, Ohio	49
3. Ernest Hemingway's In Our Time	71
4. John Steinbeck's The Pastures of Heaven	93
5. William Faulkner's The Unvanquished	107
6. William Faulkner's Go Down, Moses	121
7. Eudora Welty's The Golden Apples	141
8. Flannery O'Connor's Everything That Rises Must Converge	155
9. John Updike's Too Far to Go: The Maples Stories	173
Part II: The Twentieth-Century Short Story Cycle: An Annotated Listing	185
Twentieth-Century Short Story Cycles	187
Index	209