
Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Contributors	ix
Introduction	xi

Part I. Oral Performance and Oral Text

1. The Speaker of Tales Has More Than One String to Play On
	Dennis Tedlock	5
2. Orality, Textuality, and Interpretation	John Miles Foley	34
3. The Textualization of Orality in Literary Criticism	Ward Parks	46

Part II. Oral-Written Interfaces: Events in History

4. Medieval Heroic Traditions and Their Transitions from Orality to Literacy	Alois Wolf	67
5. Literacy and Orality in the Poetic Edda	Robert Kellogg	89
6. Oral Modes of Perception in Eleventh-Century Chronicles	Hanna Vollrath	102

Part III. Staging the Poet's Presence

7. Hearing from Books: The Rise of Fictionality in Old English Poetry	Ursula Schaefer	117
8. Voice and Writing in Augustine and in the Troubadour Lyric	Stephen G. Nichols	137
9. Signing Off in the Middle Ages: Medieval Textuality and Strategies of Authorial Self-Naming	Laurence de Looze	162

Part IV. The Thematics of Orality and Writing

10. The Marriage of Woman and Werewolf: Poetics of Estrangement in Marie de France's "Bisclavret"	Dolores Warwick Frese	183
--	------------------------------	-----

11. Chronicle, Lai, and Romance: Orality and Writing in the Roman de Perceforest	Sylvia Huot 203
Part V. Oral Principles in Manuscript Facts
12. Editing, Orality, and Late Middle English Texts	Tim William Machan 229
13. That Bothersome Residue: Toward a Theory of the Physical Text	John Dagenais 246
Works Cited	263
Index	283