

Table of contents

Preface: Meillet and grammaticalisation John E. Joseph	VII
Introduction Andrew D. M. Smith, Graeme Trousdale & Richard WALTEReit	1
The grammaticalization of headshakes: From head movement to negative head Roland Pfau	9
The Swedish connective så att 'so that': From subordinator to discourse marker Gudrun Rawoens	51
The lexicalization-grammaticalization-pragmaticalization interface: The case of Mainland Scandinavian jeg tror Karin Beijering	67
Epistemic/evidential markers of the type verb + complementizer: Some parallels from English and Romance María José López-Couso & Belén Méndez-Naya	93
The Neg-Raising Phenomenon as a product of grammaticalization Tetsuharu Moriya & Kaoru Horie	121
Periphery of utterances and (inter)subjectification in Modern Japanese: A case study of competing causal conjunctions and connective particles Yuko Higashiizumi	135
Left vs. right periphery in grammaticalization: The case of anyway Alexander Haselow	157
The diachrony of subjective amenazar 'threaten': On Latin-induced grammaticalization in Spanish Bert Cornillie & Álvaro S. Octavio de Toledo y Huerta	187
Contact-induced grammaticalization in older texts: The Medieval Greek analytic comparatives Theodore Markopoulos	209

Complexity in gradience: The serial verb take in Nigerian Pidgin Maria Mazzoli	231
Grammaticalisation as paradigmatisation Jens Nørgård-Sørensen & Lars Heltoft	261
Subject Index	293
Language Index	295
Author Index	299