

Contents

Preface	vii
Contents	ix
1. The Problem and the New Testament Evidence	1
1.1. The Problem	1
1.2. The Denial of the Resurrection in Corinth	6
1.3. Paul's Use of Traditional Material in Romans 6	37
1.4. Colossians and Ephesians	70
1.5. Philippians 3 and Conclusions	84
2. The Mystery-Relations and the World of Early Christianity	90
2.1. The Spread of the Mysteries	98
2.2. The Interpretation of the Mysteries	113
2.3. A Common Theology of the Mysteries?	139
2.4. The Use of the Language of the Mysteries	148
2.5. Conclusions	162
3. The Spiritualizing of 'Resurrection'	164
3.1. The Jewish Doctrine of Resurrection	167
3.2. 'Resurrection' in the Graeco-Roman World	181
3.3. A Present Resurrection?	211
3.4. Conclusions	230
4. Life in the Spirit	233
4.1. Spirit and Sacraments in 1 Corinthians	234
4.2. Ecstasy in the Graeco-Roman World	249
4.3. The Eschatological Gift of the Spirit	268
4.4. The Spirit of Wisdom	278
4.5. A Misunderstanding of Ritual?	287
4.6. Conclusions	293

5. Union with Christ	296
5.1. How Did the Mysteries Promise Salvation?	298
5.2. Identification and Deification	332
5.3. The Background of the Pauline 'with Christ' Language	342
5.5. Conclusions	356
6. Life Through Death	360
6.1. 'Stirb und werde'	360
6.2. Rites of Passage	363
6.3. Death and Resurrection/Return in Rites of Passage	371
6.4. 'Life through Death' and 'Life in Death'	381
6.5. Conclusions	391
7. Conclusions and Postscript	393
Abbreviations	397
Bibliography	398
1. Primary	398
2. Secondary	407
Indices.	437