

Contents

Chapter 1

An introduction to state interventions in single-mother families

1	Aim and focus of the study	1
2	Conceptual framework	7
3	Disentangling child protection interventions	10
4	Epistemics	13
5	Research methodology	15
6	Research practices	19
7	The institutional context of intervention: the Dutch Youth Care system	22
8	Outline of the book	25

Chapter 2

Upon whom are we focusing? Defining a 'multi-problem family' in theory and the consequences for social workers in practice

1	Introduction	29
2	Theory	31
3	Methods	33
4	Results: the international literature on multi-problem family	34
5	Results: Dutch multi-problem family policy	36
6	Results: social workers' perspectives on multi-problem families	39
7	Discussion and conclusion	46

Chapter 3

Caught in the Child Protection System: the impact of institutional diagnosis for Dutch and Dutch-Curaçaoan single-mother families in the Netherlands

1	Introduction	49
2	Theory	52
3	The study	54
4	The results	57
4.1	Episode 1: entering the child protection system	57
4.2	Episode 2: the child protection encounter	61

4.3	Episode 3: the report	66
4.4	Episode 4: judicial decision	69
4.5	Successive and interdependent episodes	70
4.6	Diagnosis and power	74
5	Conclusion and implications	75

Chapter 4

In whose interest? An analysis of exemplary interaction between a family supervisor and a Dutch-Curaçaoan single mother

1	Introduction	77
2	Theory	79
3	Design of the study	82
3.1	Selection, collection and interpretation of data	82
3.2	Position of the researcher	83
3.3	Selection of Flores' case	84
3.4	Data collection in Flores' case	85
3.5	Selection of the interaction	86
4	Results of the study	87
4.1	The case study	87
4.2	Power (re)producing asymmetries: diagnosis	91
4.3	Power (re)producing asymmetries: directives	92
5	Analysis of asymmetrical interaction	102
5.1	Asymmetrical presentation	102
5.2	Knowledge asymmetries	102
5.3	Asymmetrical interactional control	102
5.4	Asymmetrical communication strategies	103
5.5	Asymmetrical perspectives	103
6	Conclusion	105

Chapter 5

'Dancing in Dry Rain': ethics during situated fieldwork in single-mother child protection families

1	Introduction	107
2	Anticipatory ethical guidelines and principles	108
3	'Dancing in dry rain': incongruity between ethnographic research and ethical principles	110
3.1	Epistemics and data quality	110
3.2	The 'do no harm' principle	113
3.3	The principle of maintaining respectful and ethical professional relationships	114
3.4	Forms of engagement	116
3.5	The informed consent principle	117
3.6	The transparency principle	121

4	Ethics in practice: the case of Kate	122
5	'Dancing in the rain'	126
6	Conclusion	128

Chapter 6

Disentangling an invisible trade: state intervention in Dutch and Dutch-Curaçaoan single-mother families in the Netherlands

1	The framework	131
1.1	Macro-level	132
1.2	Meso-level	134
1.3	Micro-level	135
1.4	Ego-level	136
2	Disentangling an invisible trade	138
2.1	Diagnosis	139
2.2	Directives	140
2.3	Reports	141
3	Conclusion	142

Epilog

Beyond an invisible trade	143
----------------------------------	-----

Samenvatting	149
--------------	-----

Resúmen	159
---------	-----

Summary	169
---------	-----

References	179
------------	-----

Appendix 1	199
------------	-----

Appendix 2	201
------------	-----

Curriculum Vitae	207
------------------	-----