
CONTENTS

THE AUTHOR CHARTS HIS COURSE	xi
I. UNCHARTED SEAS OF HISTORY	3
David Meets Jonathan — Woodrow Wilson's Alter Ego — A Psychic Enigma — Unpublished Letters — Genius or Dummy? — Lifted Veils
II. DEAR, DEAR FRIEND	9
Statesman or Sleuth? — A Lobe of Wilson's Brain? — The Thermometer of Wilson's Affection — Guardian of the Privy Purse — The Dark Angel — Exit Ellen Arson Wilson — Enter Edith Bolling Wilson
III. SYMBIOSIS	16
Astral Bodies — Wilson in Slippers — Exchanging Budgets — The Secret of Colonel House — First Impressions — The Passion of Politics — Vicarious Thrills — A Biological Parallel — Psychic Messmates
IV. HOUSE — SVENGALI OR STATESMAN?	27
The Daydream of Colonel House — A Book That Made History — Philip Dru Unlocks the Secret of Wilson Policies — House and Bryan — House Performs a Miracle — The Omen of Colonel Harvey — Bryan Swallows a Cocked Hat — Two Colonels Make a President
V. TWO PRESIDENTS FOR ONE	35
Wilson at the Telephone — A Masque of Big Business — Colonel House Averts a Panic — The Duumvirs Pick a Cabinet — The Calling List of Colonel House — The Nonchalance of Woodrow Wilson — McCombs Loses Out — The March of the Hungry Democrats
VI. THE HAND ON THE STEERING WHEEL	42
Wilson Balks — The Bryan Mystery — Why House Spurned Office — Super- Secretary of State — A Vice-President Out of Luck — Reforming the Curren- cy — Manning the Federal Reserve — There Is No God but Wilson and House Is His Only Prophet — Page Turns His Face East — Appointed but Not Received — Received but Not Read
VII. THE PRICE OF HUERTA'S HEAD	50
Panama Tolls Trouble Wilson — Grey Converts House — The Colonel's Advice — England Wins a Trick — Colonel House Upsets a Platform — Woodrow Wilson's Ruse — Huerta's Head on a Silver Platter — A Dream of Pan- America — The Embryo of the League

VIII. THE INTERVIEW THAT ALMOST STOPPED THE WORLD WAR	55
Schrippenfest in Potsdam — The Geographical Colonel — Between Two Generals — Half an Hour That Might Have Changed the Fate of the World — Queen Victoria's Favorite Grandson — Great Britain's Choice — Germany, the Cockpit of Europe
IX. THE MOST ABYSMAL BLUNDER IN HISTORY	62
Sir Edward Grey Dillydallies — Colonel House Writes to the Kaiser — William II Indicts the Allies — Wilson and the Kaiser — House Exculpates the Kaiser — Haldane's German Mission — A Fatal Error — The War-Guilt Myth
X. WOODROW WILSON SEES A GHOST	69
Shades of Madison — Two Princeton Men in the White House — Woodrow Wilson's Deadly Parallel — 1812 and 1914 — "A Tragic Accident" — The Duumvirs Intercept a Letter — House Averts Break with Great Britain — Super-Diplomacy
XI. COLONEL HOUSE PACKS HIS TRUNKS	76
The Star of Bethlehem over the White House — The Pessimism of Colonel House — Woodrow Wilson Looks Westward — Two Secretaries of State — Lansing Plays the Game — The President's Proxy in Europe — The Farewell of the Duumvirs
XII. WHEELS WITHIN WHEELS	80
What Bryan Said to Dumba — A Tip for the Germans — Gerard Blusters — Zimmermann Calls a Bluff — After Bryan's Resignation — Mischief in England — Walter Page Has His Little Joke — The "Over-Advertised" British Navy — France Seizes the Dacia
XIII. HEADACHES THAT CHANGE HISTORY	87
Multiple Chess — Cross-purposes — Departments Go on Forever — Temperamental Tribulations — An Ambassador Disavowed — Wilson's Jibes: Gerard, Lippmann, Lawrence — Herron's Mission — Münsterberg's Error — The Lightning that Struck Hale — Wilson Versus Hoover — Hidden Causes
XIV. THE COLONEL AND THE KING	94
The Most Anti-German of Monarchs — The King and the Kaiser — King George Predicts the Sinking of the Lusitania — House Makes a Prophecy — The Popularity of George V
XV. A BEE IN GERMANY'S BONNET	98
The Freedom of the Seas — The Dubious Acquiescence of Sir Edward Grey — A Machiavelli of Peace — The Lusitania Sinks — House Demands an Ultimatum — Wilson Braves the Tempest — What the Kaiser Said to Gerard — British Beef and German Beer — Colonel House Foresees Trouble
XVI. DID WILSON PLEDGE THE UNITED STATES TO WAR BEFORE THE ELECTION OF 1916?	106
A Gentleman's Agreement — The I.O.U. of Sir Edward Grey — Private "Understandings" of McKinley and Roosevelt — What Colonel House Said to Briand — French Genius for Misunderstanding — The Misgivings of Ambassador Page — The House-Grey Memorandum — A Calvinist Conscience Rebels

CONTENTS

vii

XVII. CLOVEN HOOFS "Reasonable" Terms — The Hypnotized Duumvirs — The Duumvirs and the Germans — Wilson Strives to Be Neutral — Page Suppresses a Dispatch — The Disastrous Agreement — Leaking Codes — The Error of Wilhelmstrasse — A Break in the Wall of the Constitution — Will History Repeat Itself?	116
XVIII. THE GHOST OF MADISON STALKS The Ruler of the Seas — The Patience of Woodrow Wilson — Vain Peace Efforts — House Warns Grey — Scraps of Paper and Paper Blockades — Pigeon-holing Uncle Sam's Protest — Polite Refusals — Wilson's Troubled Sleep	125
XIX. THE PIOUS WISH OF AMBASSADOR PAGE Deep Waters — A Deal in Cotton — Rumbings from Washington — Lansing Writes a Note — Wilson Vacillates — Colonel House Loses His Temper — The Fury of Sir Cecil — Two Prayers	132
XX. WILSON CALLS THE ENGLISH "BOOBS" When Gentlemen Disagree — The German Pot and the Allied Kettle — Grey Digs the Grave of an Empire — Lansing Dissects His Chief — The Turn of the Road — A Stingless Ultimatum — House Argues and Cajoles — Sir Edward's Note — The Rattle of the Skeletons	138
XXI. WAR WITH GREAT BRITAIN! Campaign Hysteria — The Complaint of Captain Guy Gaunt — "The Last Straw"! — A Club for the President — The Irritation of Colonel House — Page Chides the Administration — British Bourbons Will Not Budge — Wilson at the Breaking Point — The Ghost of Madison Stalks Once More	144
XXII. IF HUGHES HAD BEEN ELECTED— Secrets of the Campaign of 1916 — Wilson Decides to Resign if Defeated — Anglicizing the Constitution — The Doubts of Justice Hughes — Polk Confirms House — Gregory's Story — Wilson's Lost Letter	149
XXIII. THE SHADOW OF THE HYPHEN Wily Strategy — House Picks a Chairman — A Voice in the Wilderness — How Presidents Are Made — Wilson's Postmaster General Woos Pro-Germans — The Hoax that Fooled Roosevelt — The Winning of the West by Woodrow Wilson	156
XXIV. BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP, DEEP SEA Anti-American Tension in London — House Counsels War with the Kaiser — The Cleavage of the Duumvirs — Wilson's Battle for Peace — Fabian Tactics — The Note That Made King George Weep — Germany's Round Robin — Wilson's Peace Note — House Sugars a Pill — "Peace Without Victory" — Wilson's Mistake	165
XXV. BEHIND THE SCENES OF THE WHITE HOUSE WHEN AMERICA ENTERED THE WAR Germany and the Duumvirs — The Periscope on the Horizon — The Real Bernstorff — The Ear in the Embassy Wall — If House Had Been the Kaiser — Devious Ways of Duumvirs — Wilson's Suspicions Wane — Torpedo Ahoy! — The Duumvirs Play Pool	170

XXVI. THE PACIFIST GOES TO WAR	180
Wilson's Gethsemane — The President's Pacifist Gospel — The Truth About the Sunrise Conference — Frustrated Hopes — House Argues for War — The President Still Hesitates — Zimmermann Sets Off a Bomb — Last Struggles — Woodrow Wilson Salves His Conscience — Wilson and Lenin
XXVII. WILSON'S PERSONALITY SPLITS	194
Wilson Finds a New Devil — The "Stupidity" of the Pacifists — Wilson Answers the Pope — Woodrow Wilson Edits a Dispatch for Downing Street — House Despairs of British Victory — The Lost Map of the Secret Treaties — Wilson's Slip of Mind — The Shortcomings of General Wood — Pershing's Prussian Discipline — "Kicking the Kaiser off His Perch" — The Duumvir is Disturbed — Suppressed Minutes — The Russian Dilemma
XXVIII. WILSON AND HOUSE RE-MAKE THE WORLD IN TWO HOURS	209
The Genesis of the Fourteen Points — The Regrets of Colonel House — The Four Objectives of the Duumvirs — How Poland Got the Corridor — The Puzzle of Austria-Hungary — Alsace Lorraine Falls under the Table — House Incorporates the Freedom of the Seas — Everybody's Business — Lloyd George Steals Wilson's Thunder — The Fourteen Points and the Secret Treaties — Wilson's Tongue Sharper than Pershing's Sword
XXIX. THE NEW SANCTION IS BORN.....	217
The League is Born — Multiple Fathers — Snatched from the Womb of Time — Long-Distance Debates — Austria's Secret Peace Offer — Allied Statesmen Shake in Their Boots — "Force without Stint or Limit" — A League Symposium — House Writes a Covenant — History Stalks Through Magnolia
XXX. HOUSE SAVES THE FOURTEEN POINTS AT THE ARMISTICE CONFERENCE	225
Germany's Imperial Scapegoat — The German Government Tricks the Kaiser — Uncle Sam's Trojan Horse — Five New Commandments — Pershing's March to Berlin — The Colonel's Tiff with Lloyd George and the Tiger — House Threatens a Separate Peace — German Collapse Weakens Wilson's Hand
XXXI. MOHAMMED COMES TO THE MOUNTAIN	234
Wilson Decides to Make Peace in Person — House Upsets the President — Roosevelt Thunders in the Index — Wilson's Puppets in Paris — The Duumvir Moves — Allied Plot to Poison President — Wilson's Infelicitous Joke — Woodrow Wilson's Obsession — The Duumvir and the Tiger — Clouds with a Purple Hue
XXXII. WOODROW WILSON DROPS THE PILOT	244
Backwash of Greed — A New Constellation — The Round Robin of Senator Lodge — The Duumvirs Little White House in Paris — Mrs. Wilson Objects — "The Jack That House Built" — Rumbblings of Discontent — The Insatiable Tiger — House Advises Break with Allies — Treacherous Waters
XXXIII. THE WRECK OF THE FOURTEEN POINTS.....	252
Fourteen Points Overboard — House on Reparations — Wilson's Change of Mind — The Blunder of the Brenner Pass — The Secret Treaties Come Home to Roost — The Abstemiousness of Woodrow Wilson — The Last Talk of the Duumvirs

XXXIV. THE END OF A FRIENDSHIP	261
Estrangement—Many Hypotheses—The Friendships of Woodrow Wilson— What Wilson Said to Sir William Wiseman—Seibold's Theory—More Con- jectures
XXXV. WHY WOODROW WILSON BROKE WITH EDWARD MANDELL HOUSE	269
Colonel House Takes the Stand—Why Colonel House Did Not Ask for a Showdown—Five Minutes that Might Have Restored the World's Equilibrium —What Wilson Did not Know—Colonel House Calls at S Street—The Silence of Colonel House—The Human Reasons for the Break—The Wall Around Wilson—A Deathbed Message from Doctor Mezes—What Did Edith Tell?
XXXVI. THE FOUR SELVES OF WOODROW WILSON	278
The Verdict of the Jury—The Ambivalence of the Duumvirs—The Schizoid President—Two Portraits—The Revenge of an Artist—The Lady or the Blarney Stone?—Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Hulbert Peck—Ten Shares of Steel—Wilson the Covenanter, House the Pagan—Woodrow Wilson's Heart of Hearts—"Tremendous Storms"—The Return of Colonel House—Wilson Immures Himself—The End of the Duumvirate—The Judgment of Wood- row Wilson
XXXVII. THE GREAT COLLAPSE	293
Wilson's Psychic Shocks—Dr. Grayson Makes a Blood Test—The Truth About Wilson's Blind Eye—Messengers of Death—The Great Crusade— Bullitt's Bullet—Lansing's Excuse—The Chink in the Armor—Wilson Weeps in Pueblo—Mrs. Wilson Takes Command—The Verdict of the Spe- cialists—Lansing Invokes the Constitution—Tumulty and Grayson Defy the Secretary of State—Who Ruled America?
XXXVIII. THE INACCESSIBLE PRESIDENT	304
Guardians of the Sick-room—Misleading Information—The Isolation of Woodrow Wilson—The Ignorance of the Cabinet—The Resentment of Vice-President Marshall—Senator Moses Explodes a Bombshell—Dr. Gray- son Makes a Statement—The Chinese Wall Grows Higher—The President's Callers—The Senate's Smelling Committee—Wilson Forces Out Lansing— Colby Steps into Lansing's Shoes—Grayson Tiptoes—The Woman in Purple
XXXIX. WHEN A WOMAN WAS PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES	319
The Most Devoted of Wives—A Uxorious President—The Woman who Was President—Mixed Motives—Lane Talks to Grayson—An Inter- rupted Cabinet Meeting—Wilson's Methods of Communication—Wilson's Affection for Grayson—The Animus of Edith Bolling Wilson—Tumulty's Story—The Husband of Mrs. Wilson's Stepdaughter—The Last Will of Woodrow Wilson—Wilson's Bid for a Third Term—The Last Bolt Shot
XL. THE WILSON MYTH	338
The Legend of Wilson—Houston Revises His Testimony—Colby Adds a Cubit—Hypocrite or Lamb of God?—A Boiling Caldron—Complex Complexes—Rejuvenation and Resurrection—Last Words—Half-Man and Super-Man—The Feet of the Idol
APPENDIX	353
INDEX	365