

Contents

Contributors	ix
Editors' preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xvi

Part I: Dialect in Education

1 Syntactic variation in non-standard dialects: background issues	3
Jenny Cheshire and Jim Milroy
1.1 The process of language standardization	3
1.2 Written standard English and literacy	7
1.3 The historical development of standard English	9
1.4 Social and regional variation in British English today	11
1.5 Attitudes towards regional varieties of English	14
1.6 The social significance of regional syntactic forms	17
1.7 The rule-governed nature of variation	18
1.8 Peer group pressures on language	20
1.9 Language development in older children	21
1.10 Writing	22
1.11 Linguistic assessment	24
1.12 Education	25
1.13 Concluding remarks	31
References	32
2 Sociolinguistics in the classroom: exploring linguistic diversity	34
Jenny Cheshire and Viv Edwards
2.1 Introduction	34

2.2	The survey of British dialect grammar	35
2.3	Reactions to linguistic diversity	38
2.4	Resources for diversity	46
2.5	Research in the local community	47
2.6	Conclusion	49
	References	50
3	Non-standard English and dialect levelling	53
	Jenny Cheshire, Viv Edwards and Pamela Whittle
3.1	Introduction	53
3.2	The Survey of British Dialect Grammar	54
3.3	The questionnaire	57
3.4	Regions included in the Survey	59
3.5	Shared morphological and syntactic features of British urban dialects	63
3.6	Conclusion	82
	Notes	83
	References	84
	Appendix 3.1: Questionnaire used in the Survey	87
	Appendix 3.2: Regions represented in the Survey	96
Part II: Regional variation in English grammar: case studies
4	The grammar of Scottish English	99
	Jim Miller
4.1	Introduction: Scottish English	99
4.2	Morphology	106
4.3	Syntax	109
4.4	Organization of discourse	132
4.5	Conclusion	137
	Note	137
	References	138
5	The grammar of Irish English	139
	John Harris
5.1	Introduction	139
5.2	The noun phrase	143
5.3	The verb group	151

5.4	The expression of time	159
5.5	Complex sentences	164
5.6	Negation	168
5.7	Prepositional usage	171
5.8	Discourse devices	173
5.9	Conclusion	177
	Notes	182
	Further reading	183
	References	184
6	The grammar of Tyneside and Northumbrian English	187
	Joan Beal
6.1	Introduction	187
6.2	The grammar of Tyneside and Northumbrian English	191
6.3	The verb phrase	192
6.4	Interrogative tags	201
6.5	Interrogatives	204
6.6	The noun phrase	205
6.7	Sentence-final elements	210
6.8	Prepositions	211
6.9	Conclusion	212
	References	212
7	The grammar of Southern British English	214
	Viv Edwards
7.1	Dialect grammar and South-eastern English dialects	214
7.2	South-eastern English grammar	219
7.3	Negation	226
7.4	Relative pronouns	228
7.5	Personal and reflexive pronouns	229
7.6	Adjectives and adverbs	231
7.7	Demonstratives	232
7.8	Verb particles and prepositions	233
7.9	Nouns of measurement	234
7.10	Conclusion	234

Note	234
Appendix to Chapter 7	236
References and Further Reading	238
Appendix to Part II: Glossary of grammatical terms Jim Miller (with additions by Jim Milroy)	239
Part III: Resources
8 A directory of English dialect resources: the English counties Viv Edwards	245
8.1 Introduction	245
8.2 English dialects	248
8.3 The Northern Counties and the Isle of Man	254
8.4 The West Midlands Counties	291
8.5 The East Midland Counties and East Anglia	306
8.6 The Southern Counties	317
Index to Parts I and II	341