

CONTENTS

|   |                |
|---|----------------|
| List of illustrations                        | page xi |
| List of contributors                         | xiii           |
| Chronologies                                 | xv             |
| CHARLOTTE SPIVACK                                   |                |
|   |                |
| 1 Introduction                                      | I              |
| ARTHUR F. KINNEY                                    |                |
| 2 The sixteenth century                             | II             |
| COLIN BURROW  |                |
| 3 Tudor aesthetics                                  | 29             |
| CLARK HULSE   |                |
| 4 Authorship and the material conditions of writing | 64             |
| WENDY WALL  |                |
| 5 Poetry, patronage, and the court                  | 90             |
| CATHERINE BATES                                     |                |
| 6 Religious writing                                 | 104            |
| JOHN N. KING  |                |
| 7 Dramatic experiments: Tudor drama, 1490–1567      | 132            |
| LEAH S. MARCUS                                      |                |
| 8 Dramatic achievements                             | 153            |
| SUZANNE GOSSETT                                     |                |
| 9 Lyric forms                                       | 178            |
| HEATHER DUBROW                                      |                |
| 10 Narrative, romance, and epic                     | 200            |
| DONALD CHENEY                                       |                |

LIST OF CONTENTS

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 11 | The evolution of Tudor satireANNE LAKE PRESCOTT               | 220 |
| 12 | Chronicles of private lifeLENA COWEN ORLIN                    | 241 |
| 13 | Popular culture in printGARRETT SULLIVAN AND LINDA WOODBRIDGE | 265 |
| 14 | Rewriting the world, rewriting the bodyRAYMOND WADDINGTON     | 287 |
| 15 | Writing empire and nationRICHARD HELGERSON                    | 310 |
|    | Index  | 330 |