

Contents

Preface	ix
1 The Classical Legacy of Augustus Caesar in "Augustan" England	3
I: SOME POSITIVE VIEWS AND NEGATIVE REACTIONS	9
II: TACITUS AND TACITEAN HISTORY	28
2 The Legacy Improved, Part I. Augustus Praised and Blamed: His Personal Weaknesses and Destruction of Art	49
I: THE PARTISANS OF AUGUSTUS	54
II: ART AND LETTERS: AUGUSTUS AS TYRANT AND BUTCHER	59
III: AUGUSTUS AS THE ENEMY OF ART	68
IV: THE VISION OF AUGUSTAN TRUTH	79
3 The Legacy Improved, Part II. Augustus in Theory and Practice: Constitutional Balance and Political Activity	86
I: AUGUSTAN PRECEDENT AND THE CONSTITUTIONAL BALANCE	86
II: PRACTICAL IMPLICATIONS—THE SHARED VIEW OF AUGUSTUS IN THE POLITICAL PRESS	108
4 "Let Horace blush, and Virgil too": The Degradation of the Augustan Poets	120
5 "Juvenal alone never prostitutes his muse": The Juvenalian Alternative	150
I: JUVENAL AS OPPOSITION SATIRIST	154
II: THE CONTINUING TRADITION	169
III: JUVENAL AND WALPOLE	175
6 Pope's Epistle to Augustus : The Ironic and the Literal	182
I: HORACE, AUGUSTUS, AND "SCRIBERE COGAS"	189
II: AUGUSTAN DARKNESS	213

CONTENTS

7 Conclusion: Mutatis Mutandis	218
I: THE RESPONSE IN FRANCE	218
II: QUO VADEMUS?	231
Appendix: Two Notes on Pope's Epistle to Augustus	243
I: POPE'S "TO AUGUSTUS" AND THE "DAILY GAZETTEER"	243
II: POPE'S "TO AUGUSTUS" (LINES 221-24) AND THE RESPONSE TO SWIFT'S DRAPIER	249
Index	253