

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Chapter One. Translation as Re-Creative Acquisition: The Concurrence with Modernist Poetry in Interpretive Self-Reproduction	1
Chapter Two. Form or Meaning: Stéphane Mallarmé's Quest for Oneness through Poetic Totalization	20
Chapter Three. Revising a Civilization: T.S. Eliot's Secretive Ambition as Poems 1919/1920	45
Chapter Four. Poetic as Encyclopedic: The Prose Poetry in Reunifying Enlightenment	67
Chapter Five. What the Thrush Said: The Re-Creative Secondness as a Synthetic Thirdness	88
Chapter Six. Salvation as Translation	96
Notes	101
Works Cited	107
Index	113