

Contents

Preface	page vi
Introduction	I
PART I THE SUBJECT BROACHED: OTHERNESS, EPISTEMOLOGY, AND ETHICS
1 George Eliot's hypothesis of reality	25
PART II ETHICS WITHOUT GOD, OR, CAN "IS" BECOME "OUGHT"?
2 Is life worth living?	53
3 Ruskin and Darwin and the matter of matter	75
4 Scientific discourse as an alternative to faith	100
5 In defense of Positivism	136
6 Why science isn't literature: the importance of differences	165
PART III LITERATURE, SECULARITY, AND THE QUEST FOR OTHERNESS
7 Realism	185
8 Dickens, secularism, and agency	210
9 The heartbeat of the squirrel	245
10 Real toads in imaginary gardens, or vice versa	261
Epilogue	270
Index	275