

Contents

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

page ix

INTRODUCTION: The Tudor Play of Mind

page 1

I. Demonstrative and Explorative: Two Paradigms

page 13

II. The Moral Cultivation of Ambivalence

page 31

III. Propaedeutic for Drama: Questions as Fiction

page 64

IV. The Method Staged: Debate Plays by Heywood and Rastell

page 107

V. Terence and the Mimesis of Wit

page 130

VI. Inventing Answers in English Comedy

page 148

VII. Quaestiones Copiosae: Pastoral and Courtly in John Lyly

page 196

VIII. Seneca and the Declamatory Structure of Tragedy

page 229

IX. Tragic Perspectives Among the Elizabethans

page 249

X. "If Words Might Serve": Marlowe's Supposes

page 321

Contents

CONCLUSION

page 389

INDEX

page 396