

Contents

1	Introduction: some dramatic and critical illusions and realities	I
2	'See here my show': theatrical illusions and realities in The Spanish Tragedy , A Midsummer Night's Dream , and The Tempest	27
3	'They that have power to hurt and will do none': tragic facts and comic fictions in Measure for Measure	51
4	'Vice under characters of advantage': dramatic and social success in The Man of Mode	79
5	'Diversity of signification': religious imagery in Restoration comedy and secular reality in Love for Love	98
6	'Offending against decorums': the reflection of social experience in The Way of the World	115
7	'Likenesses of truth': dramatic judgement in Romeo and Juliet , Julius Caesar , Macbeth , and King Lear	139
	Index	173