

Contents

Acknowledgment	v
Contributors	vii
Part 1. Introductory Concepts
1. Some Dynamics of Anticipatory Grief by C. Knight Aldrich	3
2. Notes on Anticipatory Grief by Arthur M. Arkin	10
3. Is Mourning Necessary? by Avery D. Weisman	14
4. A Societal Response by Margot Tallmer	19
5. Anticipatory Bereavement by Irwin Gerber	26
6. Dying, Death, and Social Behavior by Vanderlyn R. Pine	31
7. The Concept of Anticipatory Grief from a Research Perspective by Stanley Budner	48
8. Suggested Stages and Response Styles in Life-Threatening Illness: A Focus on the Cancer Patient by Stephen V. Gullo, Daniel J. Cherico, and Robert Shadick	53

9. Dying: Dromenon Versus Drama by Joseph H. Meyerowitz	79
Part 2. Clinical Aspects
10. A Surgical Oncologist's Observations by Benjamin F. Rush, Jr.	97
11. Organ Transplantation by Lois K. Christopherson and Thomas A. Gonda	107
12. Anticipatory Grief and Cancer by Guy F. Robbins	115
13. The Patient and Prolonged Terminal Malignant Disease: Experiences from a Radiation Therapy Center by Richard J. Torpie	119
14. Anticipatory Grief in a Cancer Hospital by Martha W. Atchley, Susan Blecker Cohen, and Lois Weinstein	124
15. Variations on a Theme: Case Reports from Cancer Care by Irene G. Buckley and Ruth Michaels	135
Part 3. Childhood Illness
16. Parental Anticipatory Grief and Guidelines for Caregivers by Brenda Comerford	147
17. The Thoughts of a Bereaved Father by Milton Graub	158
18. Management of Parental Anticipatory Grief by Rudolf Toch	161
19. Parents of Fatally Ill Children in a Parents' Group by Irving J. Borstein and Annette Klein	164
20. I Know, Do You? A Study of Awareness, Communication, and Coping in Terminally Ill Children by Myra Bluebond-Langner	171
21. Implications for Therapy in the Pediatric Patient by Martin I. Lorin	182
22. Anticipatory Grief and Going on the "Danger List" by John E. Schowalter	187

23. Cancer in Adolescents: The Symptom Is the Thing by Marjorie M. Plumb and Jimmie Holland	193
Part 4. The Health Professions
24. Medical School Curriculum and Anticipatory Grief: Faculty Attitudes by Austin H. Kutscher and Austin H. Kutscher, Jr.	213
25. Anticipatory Grief in Physicians and Nurses by Jeanne Quint Benoliel	218
26. Anticipatory Grief and the Disciplined Professions by James O. Carpenter and Georgia Hall	229
27. The Social Worker's Responsibility by Elizabeth R. Prichard	237
28. Selected Tasks for the Dying Patient and Family Members by Mary T. Ramshorn	246
29. Social Work: Its Institutional Role by Phyllis Caroff and Rose Dobrof	251
Part 5. The Management of Anticipatory Grief
30. The Vectors and Vital Signs in Grief Synchronization by Carl A. Nighswonger	267
31. Anticipatory Grief and Mourning by H. Robert Blank	276
32. Reflections on Two False Expectations by Robert B. Reeves, Jr.	281
33. Psychotherapy and Pharmacotherapy as Enablers in the Anticipatory Grief of a Dying Patient: A Case Study by Eda E. Goldstein and Sidney Malitz	285
34. LSD Therapy: A Case Study by Charles Clay Dahlberg	296
35. Drug Ingestion and Suicide During Anticipatory Grief by Bruce L. Danto	311
36. The Ministry and a Parents' Sharing Group: Preliminary Report by LeRoy G. Kerney	315

37. Anticipatory Grief from the Perspective of Widowhood 320
by Phyllis R. Silverman

Part 6. Pastoral Aspects

38. Initiatory Grief 333
by Robert E. Neale
39. Anticipatory Grief 343
by Irwin M. Blank
40. Anticipatory Grief Work 346
by Allan W. Reed
41. Ritual and Therapy 358
by Thomas Nolan
- Appendix: Anticipatory Grief: Terminology, Meaning, 367
Usage, and Connotations in Thanatology
by Austin H. Kutscher, Ivan K. Goldberg, and Elsa Poslusny
- Index 375
by Lucia A. Bove and Elaine A. Finnberg