

Contents

| | |
|--------------------------------|-------------|
| List of Illustrations | xiii |
| Note on Primary Sources | xiv |
| Abbreviations | xv |
| Introduction | I |
| Politics | 12 |
| Community | 15 |
| Linguistic Authority | 17 |

PART I. ORIGINS

| | |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 1. English and Continental Origins: Queens, Heroes, Prophets | 27 |
| Gender, Prophecy, and Women's Place in the Restoration | 29 |
| The Heroic Woman | 32 |
| Gender and the Restoration Stage | 40 |
| The Marriage of King and People | 41 |
| The Performance of Gender at the Late Stuart Court | 46 |
| The Female War | 50 |
| 2. Women's Community and the Exiled King: Katherine Philips's | |
| Society of Friendship | 55 |
| Royalism and the Heroic Woman | 56 |
| The Self-Fashioning of the Restoration Woman Writer | 62 |
| Narratives of Love and Warfare in Philips's 1650s Manuscript | 68 |
| Courting Political Favour | 75 |
| The Publication of Poems (1664) | 81 |
| Marriage, Friendship, and Honour | 92 |
| 3. Eros, Myth, and Monarchy in Aphra Behn | 101 |
| Gender, Myth, and Translation | 104 |
| Gender, Authority, and the Female Sexual Subject | 106 |
| Desire and the Uncoupling of Myth in Behn's Erotic Poems | 124 |
| The Woman Poet and the Female Monarch | 129 |

PART II. ELABORATIONS

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 4. The Female Monarch and the Woman Poet: Mary of Modena, Anne Killigrew, and Jane Barker | 149 |
| The Imaginary Underworld of Mary of Modena's Court | 152 |
| The Woman Painter and the Female Hero | 156 |
| Anne Killigrew as Linguistic and Political Subject at Court | 162 |
| Jane Barker's Genres and the Late Stuart Court | 174 |
| Poetical Recreations | 176 |
| Barker's Landscape of the Female Body | 191 |
| Female Linguistic Authority and the Coronation of Orinda | 195 |
| Commands from Underground: Barker's Manuscript Poems | 198 |
| 5. Queen Anne among the Poets | 209 |
| The Glorious Revolution as Bourgeois Marriage | 210 |
| Queen Anne's Two Bodies | 216 |
| Anne's Dutiful Daughters | 229 |
| The Limits of Feminist Imperialism | 253 |
| 6. Anne Finch: Gender, Politics, and Myths of the Private Self | 259 |
| Anne Finch and the Catholic Stuarts | 262 |
| The Publicly Private Finch and Miscellany Poems | 271 |
| Female Community and Female Authority | 278 |
| Finch's Female Poetic Genealogy | 284 |
| Conclusion | 288 |
| Appendices | |
| A. Order of Poems in Katherine Philips's Manuscripts and Poems (1664) | 291 |
| B. Lucasia Poems | 299 |
| C. Anne Killigrew's Paintings | 300 |
| D. Chatwin's Pindarique to Killigrew | 301 |
| E. Order of Poems by Jane Barker in Poetical Recreations (1688), Part I | 304 |
| F. Order of Poems in Magdalen College MS 343, Barker's 'Poems on Several Occasions, in 3 Parts' | 306 |
| G. Finch's Elegy on James II | 308 |
| Bibliography | 314 |
| Index | 337 |