

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
IRENE GILSENAN NORDIN AND CARMEN ZAMORANO LLENA
Introduction	i
MICHAEL BÖSS
Irish neutrality: From nationalism to postnationalism	17
BILLY GRAY
'Close-cropped grass comes up again fresh and sweet': Hubert Butler's perspective on community, nationalism and a globalised Ireland	37
MIRIAM O'KANE MARA
The search for global Irishness in Nuala O'Faolain	63
SEÁN CROSSON
Anticipating a postnationalist Ireland: Representing Gaelic games in Rocky Road to Dublin (1968) and Clash of the Ash (1987)	85
DAMIEN SHORTT
'Who put the ball in the English net?': The privatisation of Irish postnationalism in Dermot Bolger's In High Germany	103
MATT MCGUIRE
The postmodern promise of Robert McLiam Wilson's fiction	125

CARMEN ZAMORANO LLENA

Glocal identities in a postnationalist Ireland as reflected through contemporary Irish poetry 141

DAVID CREGAN

Divided subjectivities and modern Irish masculinities:
'The makings of a man' 159

PAULA MURPHY

'Scattering us like seed': Dermot Bolger's postnationalist Ireland 181

GRACE TIGHE LEDWIDGE

'What ish my nation?': Nationalism and neo-nationalism in the novels of Colm Tóibín 201

CATHERINE REES

The postnationalist crisis: Theatrical representations of Irish anxiety, identity and narrative in the plays of Martin McDonagh and Marie Jones 221

IRENE GILSENAN NORDIN

Elegy and celebration: Landscape, place and dwelling in the poetry of Moya Cannon 243

ULF DANTANUS

The inner life of the nation: Religion, the otherworld and death in contemporary Irish drama 267

Notes on contributors 293

Index 297